Wilson Orders Officers To Wear Civvies

Secretary Says Too
Military Look Not Good For Capital

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson, protesting that too much of a military look isn't good for the capital, has ordered officers in administrative-type jobs around Washington to start wearing civilian clothes.

The order, effective July 1, stirred up sotto voce complaints from many officers faced with prospect of paying for new duds. One official said privately the White House already has got wind of the tizzy.

Officers assigned to military departments in Washington have gone to work in uniform since early in World War II. Some, especially among the junior officers, confessed their stock of civvies is pretty much limited to sports clothes.

Went Out Yesterday
Wilson's order went out yesterday. It began circulating among astonished officers this morning.

There were mild reverberations on Capitol Hill, where Wilson was also being scorched for labeling proposed increases in Air Force funds as "phony."

The secretary himself was at Quantico, Va., conducting his yearly conference of service secretaries and other defense leaders. Asked there about his order, Wilson indicated he intends to make it stick but the transition may be gradual to avoid inconvenience.

"We don't think that at the seat of government it is good to have so many people putting on a military act," Wilson commented.

Plays Down Role
Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) previously had suggested the aim probably was to play down the military's role in government. But Mansfield said this would be wrong.

"We should have a daily reminder of the influence of the military in our government," Mansfield added.

Wilson said the new fashion decree would apply to officers called to testify at hearings on Capitol Hill. He explained it "essentially" affects the Pentagon but also covers other nonoperating and administrative officers.

Records at the Pentagon indicated 10,949 officers of the 20,387 in the Washington area are on departmental service and would be affected by the order.

About Heif of Egypt, winner of the 1955 English Channel swim, has entered again.

Commies Said Eligible For Social Security

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Employees of the Communist party are eligible for Social Security, a government legal officer ruled today.

This apparently ended a long dispute over whether employees of the party and its affiliates work for a foreign government in a legal sense. The Social Security Act excludes from coverage "services performed in the employ of a foreign government."

The Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance ruled last year that the Communist party was an arm of a foreign government and that services performed for it could not be used as a basis for Social Security benefits.

With a blast at communism, Referee Peter J. Hoegen of the Social Security Administration today reversed the bureau. His ruling is subject to possible review by an Appeals Council, but welfare department officials said they thought such a review was unlikely.

Hoegen said Communist dictatorship, or any other kind of dictatorship, means "the rule of man rather than government by law."

But he said "democracy provides due process (of law) to our enemies, as well as our friends, and guarantees equal protection of the law to all."

Hoegen's ruling specifically applied to seven Communist party employees whose eligibility for Social Security benefits had been under review. They include William Z. Foster, national chairman of the Communist party.

In New York, Harry Sacher, attorney for the group involved in the case, called the ruling "a triumph for the principle of the inalienability of Social Security." Sacher also said it was "a triumph for the constitutional freedom of Americans to think, speak and associate as they will without running the risk of forfeiting rights which have been guaranteed all Americans by law."

Wilson Stirs Ire Of Solons With 'Phony' Charge

Demos Demand Head; GOP Fails
To Rise To Defense Of Secretary

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The biggest storm of his career blew up around Secretary of Defense Wilson today as senator after senator denounced him for calling congressional moves to boost Air Force funds "phony."

Democrats demanded his head. Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, top Republican on the Armed Services Committee, accused him of "an unwarranted slur on senators." No Republican arose to defend his remark.

Whether the episode would lead to a White House crackdown on Wilson—or even imperil his Cabinet post—was not immediately apparent.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, Wilson's remarks "revolting to all patriotic Americans."

Gets Foot In Mouth
At least three senators who joined in the angry talk accused the outspoken defense chief of again, as they put it, getting his foot in his mouth.

Sen. Symington (D-Mo.), a former secretary of the Air Force and a possibility for the Democratic presidential nomination, told the Senate:

"The usefulness of this Cabinet member has come to an end."

Sen. Jackson (D-Wash.) observed that he had said much the same thing three years ago, and described Wilson this way:

"He is a very busy man—busy half the time putting his foot in his mouth, and busy the other half of the time trying to get it out."

It remained to be seen how President Eisenhower—who specializes in not getting people mad—would look upon Wilson's newly demonstrated penchant for riling a lot of people. There was no immediate comment from Walter Reed Hospital.

The big ruckus comes at a time when the administration is seeking to clear the decks for the election campaign. Democrats gave every evidence of seizing upon it as a campaign talking point.

Won't Hurt Administration
On the other hand, there were those who contended that Wilson's stand would do the administration no harm with a lot of taxpayers. For Wilson is in the role—highly unusual for a government official—of telling Congress sternly not to give him so much money to spend.

The Democratic-controlled Senate Appropriations Committee recently recommended $1,160,000,000 more for the Air Force than the administration asked. This was in line with criticism that the Eisenhower defense program is inadequate. Later Sen. Bridges came up with a compromise proposal for a 500 million dollar boost.

Asked about these moves at a news conference at Quantico, Va., last night, Wilson called them "phony." He added later—too late to affect the senators who came steaming with anger into the Senate this morning—that, "Well, maybe I shouldn't have said it."

The Benson-Kefauver speeches were not given in the nature of a debate. Both men prepared their talks before they left Washington and released the texts in advance of delivery.

Armed Forces Cut Is Seen

QUANTICO, Va., June 22 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson raised the possibility today of a cut in the armed forces manpower, which now totals about 2,835,000.

He discussed the situation, in general terms only, with reporters after the first business session of the annual defense secretaries conference at this U. S. Marine base.

Wilson got into trouble with the Senate today for his remarks of yesterday that senatorial proposals to increase Air Force funds are phony.

He told newsmen today that the Air Force has "ample people" with which to expand to its goal of 137 wings by next summer.

At the same time he gave a broad hint that more manpower reductions may be in prospect for the Army.

To questions by reporters, he said it would be possible to maintain the present number of Army divisions—19—with fewer men by streamlining divisions.

This already is being tried experimentally with the recently reactivated 101st Airborne Division. This outfit now has an organizational strength of about 12,000 men, compared with the standard 17,500 for other divisions.

Wilson said "we are taking a realistic look" at the whole military picture, involving both new weapons and their possible effect on manpower needs.

Sen. Kefauver, Benson Debate Farm Program

ELDORA, Iowa, June 22 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson and Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) took opposite viewpoints here today on whether the Eisenhower administration is doing all that Congress intended on the new farm program.

Benson asserted the 1956 soil bank program is "the best we can do for farmers on short notice at a late hour." The plan became law May 28 and is now being put into effect on a limited scale for this year.

"The real test for this program," Benson said, "will come in 1957, 1958 and 1959 when we can put it fully into operation."

Kefauver, whose prepared remarks were delivered following Benson's afternoon address at the Farm Family Field Day here, said the administration is bungling the program.

"Reliable calculations indicate that as much as $1,800,000,000 additional farm income this year could result from proper administration of the farm bill," Kefauver said. "Farmers will not get this aid if the delaying, bungling policies of the administration continue."

Kefauver, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said that as matters stand now the Eisenhower administration "plans to provide less than half of the aid to farmers that was intended by Congress."

Benson said the Agriculture Department is "adhering to the letter and the spirit of the law enacted by Congress." He said:

"Launching a program like this in the middle of the growing season, as required by law, is complicated. We have done our best to provide a workable program that will be helpful to farmers."

Kefauver said farm income is down 10 per cent from last year and said he wondered if Secretary Benson and the Eisenhower Cabinet "really comprehend the meaning of what is happening here in Iowa and in other farm states."

Benson told of his visit to Iowa early this month when he "talked with many Iowa people on their own farms." He said "this administration is determined that farmers shall share fairly in the unprecedented national prosperity."

The Benson-Kefauver speeches were not given in the nature of a debate. Both men prepared their talks before they left Washington and released the texts in advance of delivery.

Steel Industry Set To Cool Furnaces

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The Steel industry said today it will be forced to start cooling its furnaces Wednesday or Thursday "if the union persists in its announced intention to strike."

John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel vice president, made the statement in behalf of 11 steel firms.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers, said yesterday the union had sent instructions "equally applicable to a strike or lockout" to all its locals for use in event of a shutdown when present contracts expire June 30 at midnight.

Cooling of the furnaces takes three or four days to prevent cracking and extensive damage to equipment.

At the core of the contract dispute is management insistence that a new contract cover a five-year period. The union has rejected this but hasn't said how long a term it will accept. Past contracts have been for two years, with a yearly wage reopener.

Stephens appeared before newsmen and television cameras just before management and union negotiating teams met in their latest attempt to resolve the impasse.

The meeting lasted two hours and ended without comment from either side. Another meeting was scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Stephens expressed hope, as McDonald did yesterday, that a settlement could be reached in time to avert a shutdown.

The U.S. Steel official denied a charge by McDonald that the 11 companies had conspired to force a shutdown by presenting a five-year "take-it-or-leave-it" ultimatum to the union.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth," said Stephens. "The steel companies do not want a shutdown. Their business is production. It is the union that calls strikes, not the companies...."

"It is the union that wants annual crises in steel, not the companies," Stephens said. "The union presented a 'single and united front' to all companies and charged 'conspiracy' when the companies cooperated for 'their own defense and protection.'"

Stephens conceded that the companies consulted one another and had presented a united front.

"If they didn't," he continued, "they would be utterly defenseless against the well-known union 'whipsawing' tactics. They would be picked off one by one, and any concession made by one producer to try to settle its own agreement would be forced on every other producer...."

Stephens' statement was signed by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Jones & Laughlin, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Inland Great Lakes, Wheeling, Pittsburgh, Allegheny Ludlum and Armco.

French Wreck Rebel Network

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 22 (AP)—A massive roundup operation by police and troops at Bougie in eastern Algeria today wrecked an important rebel network, French authorities said.

About 8,000 persons were seized temporarily in the coastal town 140 miles east of here, and 800 were held for further questioning.

An official said among those arrested were 28 known rebel leaders who had been sought for months, and 33 others who were charged with hiding arms and otherwise taking part in the 19-month rebellion. Strong detachments of troops joined police in surrounding the Arab quarter of Bougie last night and in carrying out the search today.

Officials said the 28 leaders were the mainstay of a whole series of attacks on French settlements and Arabs friendly to the French throughout the Kabylie Mountain area and Soummam Valley.

In Algiers, meanwhile, police said they had learned the identity of all the rebels who took part in Wednesday's commando raid at Bougie on European civilians in the city in which four persons were killed and 13 others injured. The identifications apparently came from questioning three rebels arrested the last two days.

Hall Believes Ike To Remain In Running

Martin To Preside
At San Francisco
Convention Aug. 20

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Republicans today chose Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington as their GOP National Convention keynoter.

They also got a prediction from their national chairman that President Eisenhower will remain in the race for a second term.

Chairman Leonard W. Hall replied "not the slightest" when reporters asked whether he thinks there is "even the faint possibility" Eisenhower might quit the race.

No Word From Ike

Hall made plain he had had no word from the President. He said Eisenhower "always speaks for himself very frankly." He declined, however, to guess whether Eisenhower might issue a new statement on his candidacy as a result of his recent intestinal operation.

Hall said Eisenhower had approved before he was stricken with ileitis a lineup of convention officials including Langlie as keynoter, Sen. William F. Knowland of California as temporary chairman and Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts as permanent press officer. These selections were approved today by the party's 46-member Arrangements Committee.

When Martin bangs the gavel at the Aug. 20 San Francisco convention it will be the fifth consecutive time he has acted in that capacity.

Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut was selected as chairman of the platform-drafting Resolutions Committee.

Bush Is Candidate

Bush, like Langlie, is a candidate for the Senate. Both the Washington governor and the Connecticut senator have been listed as strong supporters of Eisenhower.

Hall told newsmen he has no doubt the ticket nominated at San Francisco will be President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon. "You can paste the names of Eisenhower and Nixon in your hats," he said.

The choice of Langlie and Bush for key convention posts indicated the emphasis Republicans are laying on the campaign to regain control of the Senate. Langlie got into the race against Democrats.... Warren Magnuson of Washington at the urging of Eisenhower. Bush was unanimously renominated by Connecticut Republicans in their state convention this week.

Bush, a Wall Street investment banker, is a partner of the firm of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., of which Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is a member.

When Hall was asked if this might prove "embarrassing" to the platform chairman, the GOP national chairman laughed off the question.

Seize On Appointment
Nevertheless, there are indications that some Democrats would seize on Bush's appointment as support for their contention that this Eisenhower administration represents "big business."

A frequent golfing partner of Eisenhower's at Burning Tree Club here, Bush has a record of nearly 100 per cent support of Eisenhower's legislative proposals.

Soviets Expected To Unveil New Planes At Air Show

MOSCOW, June 22 (AP)—The Soviet Union is expected to unveil at least two—and maybe as many as seven—new types of jet aircraft at Sunday's air force show which Gen. Nathan F. Twining, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, will attend.

Westerners scanning the skies over Moscow report glimpsing two new types already. What they are waiting to see is what will fill five conspicuous gaps in formations that have rehearsed so far.

This capital has been reverberating for weeks from the boom of jets screaming through the sound barrier. The jets have been rehearsing over the Tushino base outside Moscow where the air show will be held.

Observers have sighted a new delta-wing fighter which they believe to be an experimental model not yet in production. No such fighter have been exhibited by the Russians so far and the current type is not considered a true delta-wing because it has a tail.

Two or three swept-wing twin-jet intercontinental bombers, an improvement over the IL28 seen last year, also have been seen.

The Westerners agree the most interesting—and so far the most mysterious—aircraft to be unveiled Sunday will be experimental jets.

Each rehearsal so far invariably has included five empty spaces in the formations, a strong suggestion something unusual is being withheld for a dramatic unveiling Sunday.

Observers also noted that planes crashing the sound barrier did so in dives and not in level flight, a possible indication the jets testing out in the Moscow area lack the necessary power for level flight faster than the speed of sound.

The U.S. Embassy released a 10-day Soviet itinerary for Twining which includes visits to hitherto top-secret Soviet air installations, plane factories and institutions.

Observers took this as an open Soviet bid for further and more extensive visits to the Soviet Union by top U.S. military and government officials in view of President Eisenhower's recent statement that such future visits will be predicated on how much Twining gets to see.

It also seemed a fairly obvious bid for reciprocal treatment for Soviet officials who may visit the United States in the future.

Gov. George Clinton of New York. It was from New Windsor, Conn., and was dated April 7, 1781.

"That which is written below was this instant sent to me by Gen. Heath," the letter began. "It is a duty I owe to friendship to transmit the account as I received it."

The account attributed to a "Mr. Backman" of Peekskill, N. Y., a tip that the English had sent out four parties of men. Then, quoting from the Heath message, it went on:

"One party with the design of taking or assassinating his excellency, the commander in chief, the other to take the governor of New Jersey, the other the governor of New York, and the design of the other his informant was unable to discover."

Backman, the tipster, did not disclose the name of his informant.

Newman said it is possible that Backman got the information from Harvey Birch, a spy for the Colonials.

Newman said he could find no record of the plot incident in Washington biographies he has checked.

"Launching a program like this in the middle of the growing season, as required by law, is complicated. We have done our best to provide a workable program that will be helpful to farmers."

Kefauver said farm income is down 10 per cent from last year and said he wondered if Secretary Benson and the Eisenhower Cabinet "really comprehend the meaning of what is happening here in Iowa and in other farm states."

Benson told of his visit to Iowa early this month when he "talked with many Iowa people on their own farms." He said "this administration is determined that farmers shall share fairly in the unprecedented national prosperity."

The Benson-Kefauver speeches were not given in the nature of a debate. Both men prepared their talks before they left Washington and released the texts in advance of delivery.

Steel Industry Set To Cool Furnaces

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The steel industry said today it will be forced to start cooling its furnaces Wednesday or Thursday "if the union persists in its announced intention to strike."

John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel vice president, made the statement in behalf of 11 steel firms.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers, said yesterday the union had sent instructions "equally applicable to a strike or lockout" to all its locals for use in event of a shutdown when present contracts expire June 30 at midnight.

Cooling of the furnaces takes three or four days to prevent cracking and extensive damage to equipment.

At the core of the contract dispute is management insistence that a new contract cover a five-year period. The union has rejected this but hasn't said how long a term it will accept. Past contracts have been for two years, with a yearly wage reopener.

Stephens appeared before newsmen and television cameras just before management and union negotiating teams met in their latest attempt to resolve the impasse.

The meeting lasted two hours and ended without comment from either side. Another meeting was scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p.m.

Stephens expressed hope, as McDonald did yesterday, that a settlement could be reached in time to avert a shutdown.

The U.S. Steel official denied a charge by McDonald that the 11

Refugee Pressured To Spy For Moscow

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—A Russian refugee told a news conference yesterday that two Soviet officials at the United Nations had tried to force him into espionage within the past two months.

Michael Shatov, 40-year-old ex-captain in the Soviet army, said the pair "implied" that Arkady A. Sobolev, chief of the U.S.S.R. delegation, was aware of their pressure tactics.

Shatov identified the two subordinate officials as Aleksei Petukhov, director of the U.N. technical assistance program for Asia and the Far East; and Rostislav Shapovalov, second secretary in the Russian mission to the United Nations.

Nixon To Attend 10th Philippines Freedom Day

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Vice President Nixon will represent President Eisenhower at the 10th anniversary celebration of the Philippines' Independence Day in Manila, July 4.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, announced today that Nixon will make the trip at Eisenhower's "urging" and in response to a personal invitation from President Ramon Magsaysay of the Philippines.

The journey could have implications for the cold war struggle between Russia and the non-Communist world.

The celebration and the designation of Nixon to attend would serve to recall to the world that the United States carried out its pledge to make the Philippines independent. This in turn would underline the argument that Russia hasn't always kept its word with regard to some of its satellites.

Governed as a territorial possession of the United States after the Spanish-American War, the Philippines received semi-independent status in 1935 with a promise of independence a decade later. The pledge was fulfilled within a year of the end of World War II—on July 4, 1946.

One immediate reason for sending Nixon to the ceremonies would be to offset a reported disquiet among Filipinos that the United States has neglected its established friends in order to cultivate such neutrals as India, Indonesia and Burma.

French Wreck Rebel Network

ALGIERS, Algeria, June 22 (AP)—A massive roundup operation by police and troops at Bougie in eastern Algeria today wrecked an important rebel network, French authorities said.

About 8,000 persons were seized temporarily in the coastal town 140 miles east of here, and 800 were held for further questioning.

An official said among those arrested were 28 known rebel leaders who had been sought for months, and 33 others who were charged with hiding arms and otherwise taking part in the 19-month rebellion. Strong detachments of troops joined police in surrounding the Arab quarter of Bougie last night and in carrying out the search today.

Officials said the 28 leaders were the mainspring of a whole series of attacks on French settlements and Arabs friendly to the French throughout the Kabylie Mountain area and Soummam Valley.

In Algiers, meanwhile, police said they had learned the identity of all the rebels who took part in Wednesday's commando raid attack on European civilians in the city in which four persons were killed and 13 others injured. The identifications apparently came from questioning three rebels arrested the last two days.

Hall Believes Ike To Remain In Running

Martin To Preside At San Francisco Convention Aug. 20

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Republicans today chose Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington as their GOP National Convention keynoter.

They also got a prediction from their national chairman that President Eisenhower will remain in the race for a second term.

Chairman Leonard W. Hall replied "not the slightest" when reporters asked whether he thinks there is "even the faint possibility" Eisenhower might quit the race.

No Word From Ike
Hall made plain he had had no word from the President. He said Eisenhower "always speaks for himself very frankly." He declined, however, to guess whether Eisenhower might issue a new statement on his candidacy as a result of his recent intestinal operation.

Hall said Eisenhower had approved before he was stricken with ileitis a lineup of convention officials including Langlie as keynoter, Sen. William F. Knowland of California as temporary chairman and Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts as permanent presiding officer. These selections were approved today by the party's 46-member Arrangements Committee.

When Martin bangs the gavel at the Aug. 20 San Francisco convention it will be the fifth consecutive time he has acted in that capacity.

Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut was selected as chairman of the platform-drafting Resolutions Committee.

Bush Is Candidate
Bush, like Langlie, is a candidate for the Senate. Both the Washington governor and the Connecticut senator have been listed as strong supporters of Eisenhower.

Hall told newsmen he has no doubt the ticket nominated at San Francisco will be President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

"You can paste the names of Eisenhower and Nixon in your hats," he said.

The choice of Langlie and Bush for key convention posts indicated the emphasis Republicans are laying on the campaign to regain control of the Senate. Langlie got into the race against Democratic Sen. Warren Magnuson of Washington at the urging of Eisenhower. Bush was unanimously renominated by Connecticut Republicans in their state convention this week.

Bush, a Wall Street investment banker, is a partner of the firm of Brown Brothers Harriman & Co., of which Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is a member.

When Hall was asked if this might prove "embarrassing" to the platform chairman, the GOP national chairman laughed off the question.

Seize On Appointment
Nevertheless, there are indications that some Democrats would seize on Bush's appointment as support for their contention that this Eisenhower administration represents "big business."

A frequent golfing partner of Eisenhower's at Burning Tree Club here, Bush has a record of nearly 100 per cent support of Eisenhower's legislative proposals.

Soviets Expected To Unveil New Planes At Air Show

MOSCOW, June 22 (AP)—The Soviet Union is expected to unveil at least two—and maybe as many as seven—new types of jet aircraft at Sunday's air force show which Gen. Nathan F. Twining, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, will attend.

Westerners scanning the skies over Moscow report glimpsing new types already. What they are waiting to see is what will fill five conspicuous gaps in formations that have rehearsed so far.

This capital has been reverberating for weeks from the boom of jets screaming through the sound barrier. The jets have been rehearsing over the Tushino base outside Moscow where the air show will be held.

Observers have sighted a new delta-wing fighter which they believe to be an experimental model not yet in production. No such fighter have been exhibited by the Russians so far and the current type is not considered a true delta-wing because it has a tail.

Two or three swept-wing twin-jet intercontinental bombers, an improvement over the IL28 seen last year, also have been seen. The Westerners agree the most interesting—and so far the most mysterious—aircraft to be unveiled Sunday will be experimental jets.

Each rehearsal so far invariably has included five empty spaces in the formations, a strong suggestion something unusual is being withheld for a dramatic unveiling Sunday.

Observers also noted that planes crashing the sound barrier did so in dives and not in level flight, a possible indication the jets testing out in the Moscow area lack the necessary power for level flight faster than the speed of sound.

The U.S. Embassy released a 10-day Soviet itinerary for Twining which includes visits to hitherto top-secret Soviet air installations, plane factories and institutions.

Observers took this as an open Soviet bid for further and more extensive visits to the Soviet Union by top U.S. military and government officials in view of President Eisenhower's recent statement that such future visits will be predicated on how much Twining gets to see.

It also seemed a fairly obvious bid for reciprocal treatment for Soviet officials who may visit the United States in the future.

Posses Seek Slayer Of Three Persons

WARREN, Ohio, June 22 (AP)—A truck driver, furious because his common-law wife left him last week, last night shot to death her two sisters and a teen-age girl he never knew.

Three posses of 50 to 60 men today hunted for Alfred Wilson, 37. When he was released from jail early this week on an assault and battery charge pressed by his wife, Wilson vowed:

"This is the last time you'll get me alive."

The victims, each killed at a different spot along a 30-mile death route in rural Ohio, were: Mrs. Geraldine Brown, 30, Wilson's sister-in-law and mother of two children, shot once in the head at her home in Leavittsburg.

Hazel Botts, 32, another sister-in-law, and mother of three children, shot twice with a German-Luger in her home at Cortland.

Nancy Worthington, 16-year-old Leavittsburg high school student, kidnapped, beaten and shot. She was on her way home from a school homecoming when Wilson blocked her car and grabbed her in his mad search for get-away cash.

Wilson's wife, Juanita, 35, was at the Botts home when Wilson showed up. She locked herself up in the bathroom to protect herself and was not harmed.

"This is the way Sheriff T. Herbert Thomas of Trumbull County pieced together the bloody tale:

Wilson approached the Brown home shortly after 9 o'clock last night. He asked Mrs. Brown to use the telephone and when she hesitated, he shot her once through the left side of the head. She dropped dead.

Later Wilson saw a family

friend, Emmett Dennison, 42, of Warren, driving down a Bazetta Township road. He forced the car off the road and shot Dennison in the left arm. Wilson's son by an early marriage, Skippy, 10, was in the Dennison car. The boy fled to safety.

The berserk truck driver then drove to the Botts home. There were 10 persons there at the time: Mrs. Botts; her husband; their three children, Claudette, 5, Mark, 2, and Denise, 6 months; Mrs. Wilson and three of her six children; and her mother, Mrs. Wentworth.

Mrs. Botts walked into the living room when Wilson approached. He fired once through the glass in the door, then ran to a picture window in the living room and fired again. The bullets struck Mrs. Botts in the chest.

After midnight, the truck driver accosted a car caught in a county road dead-end. Thomas E. Heidelberg, 17, and Arthur C. Johnson, 17, high school students, got out of their car and asked Wilson to move. He refused and asked if they had any money. They said no. Wilson discovered Nancy was in the car. He said he would hold her until they went down the road to get some money.

When the boys returned, Nancy was gone. He had taken her into his car, beat her, shot her to death and then pushed her out of the vehicle.

Wilson's abandoned car was found on a county road near Windham, 15 miles west of Warren and in it deputies found a Luger holster, an empty cartridge clip and an unsigned note which read:

"Wanted to get you, Juanita. Sorry for what I have done. Say goodbye to the kids. Hope to meet you in the other world."

Norfolk Piers To Be Busy On Coal Holidays

NORFOLK, Va., June 22 (AP)—A holiday by coal miners, scheduled for July 1-8, is not expected to cause much of a slowdown in the booming coal shipping activity at Hampton Roads piers.

Spokesmen for the three railroads hauling coal into the port report large stockpiles at all piers. One rail official said a backlog of more than one million tons is on hand and more coal is on the way from the mines.

"Norfolk is loaded with coal," a spokesman for the Norfolk & Western Railway said. He said the N&W had more than 7,000 rail cars loaded with coal now at the piers, and better than 2,500 cars in transit from the mines.

At Newport News, the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway was reported to have about 7,400 rail cars on hand and a large quantity on the way from the mines.

Surgeon's Wife Robbery Victim

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 22 (AP)—A $283,000 robbery of cash, jewels and negotiable securities was reported to police today by Mrs. I. Daniel Shorell, wife of an internationally known plastic surgeon.

Detectives William Philbin and Joseph Caputo said the big haul apparently was made by professional safecrackers who broke into the Shorell home on Rivo Alto Island.

Shorell, who said he has performed plastic surgery on Queen Marie of Romania, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Edna Wallace Hopper and many others, reported from New York City by phone that the losses apparently included:

Negotiable securities, $270,000; cash, $5,000; U. S. money orders, $2,000-3,000; jewelry, $6,000.

According to Philbin and Caputo, Mrs. Shorell said the robbery took place between 4:30 p.m. and 1:05 a.m., while she was at a party. Mrs. Shorell said she found the home had been entered by cutting a screen on a rear porch door. Clothes had been tossed out of a closet to get at the safe.

Gen. Twining Visits USAF At Germany

WIESBADEN, Germany, June 22 (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, flew in today for a brief visit at the U. S. Air Force headquarters in Europe.

Gen. Twining and his party will continue their flight to Moscow tomorrow. Twining's plane will stop briefly in Berlin, where a Russian navigator will be picked up for the last lap of their trip to the Soviet capital.

Gen. Twining is going to Moscow on invitation by the Soviet government to watch a formal air parade Sunday.

Lear Gets Okay To Fly Plane Over Russia

BERLIN, June 22 (AP)—Flying tourists William P. Lear and his wife got permission from the Russians today to make a trail-blazing flight in their private plane to Moscow.

Lear, widely known U. S. aviation equipment manufacturer, had his heart set on leaving tonight in time to see the big Soviet air show in Moscow Sunday, but had to postpone the takeoff at the last minute because of a brake failure. He definitely set departure for Tuesday.

He and his wife, Moya, daughter of Ole Olsen of the oldtime comedy team, will be the first to fly through the Iron Curtain to Moscow in a private plane.

The Lears hopped from West Berlin's Tempelhof airport to Schoenefeld airfield just outside East Berlin this morning when they assured they would get Russian permission for the Moscow visit.

"When we landed," Lear said, "Russian officials greeted us with a great deal of cordiality. There was a whole flock of brass out to meet us."

"The Russians broke themselves apart to help us and they were really discouraged about this brake thing. They were afraid someone in the State Department would change his mind about letting us go. I told them I was sure no one in the State Department would do that."

He said he and his wife would remain in Moscow three days and then fly to Helsinki and Stockholm before heading back to their home in Geneva, Switzerland, and their four children.

For the trip to Moscow, the Russians have assigned an English-speaking navigator to accompany them.

Lear, 54, won the Collier trophy in 1949 for developing an automatic all-weather pilot for jet aircraft. He manufactures aviation equipment at plants in Grand Rapids, Mich., and Ellyria, Ohio, and has executive offices at Santa Monica, Calif.

He and his 41-year-old wife arrived in Berlin Wednesday in their elaborately equipped Cessna 310, making the first flight in a private plane over the East zone into Communist-surrounded Berlin.

Police Check New Leads In Murder Of Young Girls

LAUREL, June 22 (AP)—The murder investigation into the deaths of Shelby Jean Venable, 16, and Mary Elizabeth Fellers, 18, centered near here today as police ran out leads and discovered a pile of discarded bloody clothing.

The clothing was found near Andrews Air Force Base and was believed to have been discarded from a blue car which an armed services police cruiser had followed for several miles on Suitland Parkway.

Maryland state police, however, were skeptical the clothing had any connection with the double murder since one garment was a beachrobe. Neither girl had such a garment when they disappeared into a blue car in Beltsville June 1.

The nude body of Mary Elizabeth was found June 9 in the Potomac River near Brunswick, Md. Shelby Jean's body was discovered six days later in Catocin Creek at Wheatland, Va., about nine miles away.

Detective Sgt. G. Earle Newcomer said police are checking an anonymous letter sent to him "with a Maryland postmark" which he said pertains to the case.

ritual, as the governing laws for the state department.

No. 7, which calls for Civil Service regulation changes to provide that "not more than one person in a family, living under the same roof can be on a Federal Civil Service payroll."

No. 9, a recommendation for adoption of mandatory legislation which would provide that any recipient of a Congressional Medal of Honor who might become disabled or afflicted should be conclusively presumed to have incurred his affliction in service.

More Resolutions

Several resolutions provide ammunition for the VFW battle to protect veterans' benefits and benefits under Civil Service. One calls for the VFW to restate its position on the Maryland bonus question.

A number are actions requested by the National Department, covering a variety of internal and external problems ranging from pensions to hospital and medical programs, veterans employment, rehabilitation, GI insurance, education and military training, GI loans, and other questions.

Of strictly state and local interest are resolutions which call for broadening of visiting hours at Fort Howard Veterans Hospital. There have been complaints that restrictions on visitors there are too severe.

Another resolution calls for preservation of the War Memorial Building in Baltimore, headquarters of veteran organizations. Resolution No. 35 from Baltimore raises an objection to a city plan to construct a skating rink on the War Memorial Plaza.

Additional actions call for continuation of the legislative action committee and for permission to reactivate posts under the same name and number where proper request is made.

Amendments Made

During yesterday's session, a score of amendments were made to department by-laws after Irvin Maeders, chairman, made his report. Most of these were for the purpose of clarification. However, a couple were regarded as important.

One of these now provides that each post must pay the $1 registration fee for each encampment delegate at least 15 days before the opening of the encampment. Otherwise the delegate's right to register and vote will be forfeited.

Another changes the Council of Administration meetings from quarterly to monthly. Another provides that a new post applying for charter must have enrolled 25 new members.

Among guests at the conclave yesterday was former State Senator Robert B. Kimble, now head of the Maryland Department of Employment Security. Kimble reported on the activities of his agency, and showed what is being done to place veterans in employment and help them readjust to civilian activity.

Tonight, the convention banquet will be held in the Shrine City Club followed by a dance there and also at the VFW and Legion post homes. Elections at both the men's and women's sessions are scheduled for tomorrow followed by installation and adjournment.

2 Local Banks

County Circuit Court, was the first president.

Upon Mr. Young's death in 1916, Oliver S. Wilson, of the Wilson and Pugh Company (wholesale hardware partnership here) was elected president. He served until his death in 1923 when his partner in the hardware business, Ferman G. Pugh, was elected to take his place.

Pugh, who died in 1932, was succeeded by Wilbur V. Wilson, local attorney, son of Oliver S. Wilson. Wilson is still president.

The cashier until his death in 1933 was Thomas B. Lashley. Since then George C. Cook has been vice president and cashier. The Commercial Savings Bank has had a steady growth during the past seven years. In June 1949 it paid a stock dividend of 50 per cent and increased its capital from $50,000 to $75,000. In June 1954, it paid another stock dividend of 33 1/3 per cent and increased the capital to $100,000.

The present surplus is $100,000 and undivided profits are more than $40,000. The Commercial has the reputation of being very conservative, with most of its earnings being applied to the increase of capital assets.

Under the merger, Wilson and Cook will be added to the Liberty Trust's board of directors. Cook will be made a vice president and Wilson will be a member of several of the important committees. William C. Dudley, assistant secretary and assistant cashier of Commercial, will be named assistant secretary of the Liberty Trust Company. All of the Commercial employees will become associated with Liberty Trust.

When the merger is approved, Robert M. Hainsfurther, manager of the North Branch plant of Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, will be added to the board of directors of the combined banks.

Wilson noted that several merger proposals have been made with Commercial during the past ten years, but none had been seriously considered. The move was made this year, he explained, because in addition to fully protecting stockholders in the exchange of stock and insuring them of a larger cash dividend, it will give Commercial's employees a pension plan.

The Liberty Trust, largest bank in Western Maryland, has a history of mergers. It was formed in 1920 through a merger of the Third National Bank, the Citizens National Bank, the Citizens Savings Bank (formerly the German Savings Bank), and the Dime Savings Bank.

In 1948, the Peoples Bank of Cumberland was also merged into the Liberty Trust.

Charles A. Piper, president of Liberty Trust since 1941, said the bank has been experiencing a more than average increase in capital and total assets. He pointed out that its trust department is the largest in this section of the state, and added that Commercial's customers will have an opportunity to avail themselves of this service which was not authorized under that bank's legal limitations.

Piper said a merger eliminates many duplications in operating expenses and provides better service to customers of both banks.

In 1948, the Peoples Bank of Cumberland was also merged into the Liberty Trust.

Charles A. Piper, president of Liberty Trust since 1941, said the bank has been experiencing a more than average increase in capital and total assets. He pointed out that its trust department is the largest in this section of the state, and added that Commercial's customers will have an opportunity to avail themselves of this service which was not authorized under that bank's legal limitations.

Piper said a merger eliminates many duplications in operating expenses and provides better service to customers of both banks.

Posses Seek Slayer Of Three Persons

WARREN, Ohio, June 22 (AP)—A truck driver, furious because his common-law wife left him last week, last night shot to death her two sisters and a teen-age girl he never knew.

Three posses of 50 to 60 men today hunted for Alfred Wilson, 37. When he was released from jail on $10,000 bond, he was charged with battery charge pressed by his wife, Wilson vowed.

"This is the last time you'll get me alive."

The victims, each killed at a different spot along a 30-mile death route in rural Ohio, were: Mrs. Geraldine Brown, 30, Wilson's sister-in-law and mother of two children, shot once in the head at her home in Leavittsburg.

Hazel Botts, 32, another sister-in-law, and mother of three children, shot twice with a German-Luger in her home at Cortland.

Nancy Worthington, 16-year-old Leavittsburg high school student, kidnapped, beaten and shot. She was on her way home from a school homecoming when Wilson blocked her car and grabbed her in his mad search for getaway cash.

Wilson's wife, Juanita, 35, was at the Botts home when Wilson showed up. She locked herself up in the bathroom to protect herself and was not harmed.

"This is the way Sheriff T. Herbert Thomas of Trumbull County pieced together the bloody tale:

Wilson approached the Brown home shortly after 9 o'clock last night. He asked Mrs. Brown to use the telephone and when she hesitated, he shot her once through the left side of the head. She dropped dead.

Later Wilson saw a family

friend, Emmett Dennison, 42, of Warren, driving down a Bazetta Township road. He forced the car off the road and shot Dennison in the left arm. Wilson's son by an early marriage, Skippy, 10, was in the Dennison car. The boy fled to safety.

The berserk truck driver then drove to the Botts home. There were 10 persons there at the time: Mrs. Botts; her husband; their three children, Claudette, 5, Mark, 2, and Denise, 6 months; Mrs. Wilson and three of her six children; and her mother, Mrs. Wentworth.

Mrs. Botts walked into the living room when Wilson approached. He fired once through the glass in the door, then ran to a picture window in the living room and fired again. The bullets struck Mrs. Botts in the chest.

After midnight, the truck driver accosted a car caught in a county road dead-end. Thomas E. Heidelberg, 17, and Arthur C. Johnson, 17, high school students, got out of their car and asked Wilson to move. He refused and asked if they had any money. They said no. Wilson discovered Nancy was in the car. He said he would hold her until they went down the road to get some money.

When the boys returned, Nancy was gone. He had taken her into his car, beat her, shot her to death and then pushed her out of the vehicle.

Wilson's abandoned car was found on a county road near Windham, 15 miles west of Warren, in it deputies found a Luger holster, an empty cartridge clip and an unsigned note which read:

"Wanted to get you, Juanita. Sorry for what I have done. Say goodbye to the kids. Hope to see you in the other world."

Norfolk Piers To Be Busy On Coal Holidays

NORFOLK, Va., June 22 (AP)—A holiday by coal miners, scheduled for July 1-8, is not expected to cause much of a slowdown in the booming coal shipping activity at Hampton Roads piers.

Spokesmen for the three railroads hauling coal into the port report large stockpiles at all piers. One rail official said a backlog of more than one million tons is on hand and more coal is on the way from the mines.

"Norfolk is loaded with coal," a spokesman for the Norfolk & Western Railway said. He said the N&W had more than 7,000 rail cars loaded with coal now at the piers and better than 2,500 cars in transit from the mines.

At Newport News, the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway was reported to have about 7,400 rail cars on hand and a large quantity on the way from the mines.

Surgeon's Wife Robbery Victim

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., June 22 (AP)—A $283,000 robbery of cash, jewels and negotiable securities was reported to police today by Mrs. I. Daniel Shorell, wife of an internationally known plastic surgeon.

Detectives William Philbin and Joseph Caputo said the big haul apparently was made by professional safecrackers who broke into the Shorell home on Rivo Alto Island.

Shorell, who said he has performed plastic surgery on Queen Marie of Romania, Zsa Zsa Gabor, Edna Wallace Hopper and many others, reported from New York City by phone that the losses apparently included:

Negotiable securities, $270,000; cash, $5,000; U. S. money orders, $2,000-3,000; jewelry, $6,000.

According to Philbin and Caputo, Mrs. Shorell said the robbery must have taken place between 4:30 p.m. and 1:05 a.m., while she was at a party. Mrs. Shorell said she found the home had been entered by cutting a screen on a rear porch door. Clothes had been tossed out of a closet to get at the safe.

Lear Gets Okay To Fly Plane Over Russia

BERLIN, June 22 (AP)—Flying tourists William P. Lear and his wife got permission from the Russians today to make a trail-blazing flight in their private plane to Moscow.

Lear, widely known U. S. aviation equipment manufacturer, had his heart set on leaving tonight in time to see the big Soviet air show in Moscow Sunday, but had to postpone the takeoff at the last minute because of a brake failure. He definitely set departure for Tuesday.

He and his wife, Moya, daughter of Ole Olsen of the oldtime comedy team, will be the first to fly through the Iron Curtain to Moscow in a private plane.

The Lears hopped from West Berlin's Tempelhof airport to Schoenefeld airport just outside East Berlin this morning when assured they would get Russian permission for the Moscow visit.

"When we landed," Lear said, "Russian officials greeted us with a great deal of cordiality. There was a whole flock of brass out to meet us."

"The Russians broke themselves apart to help us and they were really discouraged about this brake thing. They were afraid someone in the State Department would change his mind about letting us go. I told them I was sure no one in the State Department would do that."

He said he and his wife would remain in Moscow three days and then fly to Helsinki and Stockholm before heading back to their home in Geneva, Switzerland, and their four children.

For the trip to Moscow, the Russians have assigned an English-speaking navigator to accompany them.

Lear, 54, won the Collier trophy in 1949 for developing an automatic all-weather pilot for jet aircraft. He manufactures aviation equipment at plants in Grand Rapids, Mich., and Elyria, Ohio, and has executive offices at Santa Monica, Calif.

He and his 41-year-old wife arrived in Berlin Wednesday in their elaborately equipped Cessna 310, making the first flight in a private plane over the East zone into Communist-surrounded Berlin.

Police Check New Leads In Murder Of Young Girls

LAUREL, June 22 (AP)—The murder investigation into the deaths of Shelby Jean Venable, 16, and Mary Elizabeth Fellers, 18, centered near here today as police ran out leads and discovered a pile of discarded bloody clothing.

The clothing was found near Andrews Air Force Base and was believed to have been discarded from a blue car which an armed services police cruiser had followed for several miles on Suitland Parkway.

Maryland state police, however, were skeptical the clothing had any connection with the double murder since one garment was a beachrobe. Neither girl had such a garment when they disappeared into a blue car in Beltsville June 1.

The nude body of Mary Elizabeth was found June 9 in the Potomac River near Brunswick, Md. Shelby Jean's body was discovered six days later in Catocin Creek at Wheatland, Va., about nine miles away.

Detective Sgt. G. Earle Newcomer said police are checking an anonymous letter sent to him "with a Maryland postmark" which he said pertains to the case.

No. 7, which calls for Civil Service regulation changes to provide that "not more than one person in a family, living under the same roof can be on a Federal Civil Service payroll."

No. 9, a recommendation for adoption of mandatory legislation which would provide that any recipient of a Congressional Medal of Honor who might become disabled or afflicted should be conclusively presumed to have incurred his affliction in service.

More Resolutions

Several resolutions provide ammunition for the VFW battle to protect veterans' benefits and benefits under Civil Service. One calls for the VFW to restate its position on the Maryland bonus question.

A number are actions requested by the National Department, covering a variety of internal and external problems ranging from pensions to hospital and medical programs, veterans employment, rehabilitation, GI insurance, education and military training, GI loans, and other questions.

Of strictly state and local interest are resolutions which call for broadening of visiting hours at Fort Howard Veterans Hospital. There have been complaints that restrictions on visitors there are too severe.

Another resolution calls for preservation of the War Memorial Building in Baltimore, headquarters of veteran organizations. Resolution No. 35 from Baltimore raises an objection to a city plan to construct a skating rink on the War Memorial Plaza.

Additional actions call for continuation of the legislative action committee and for permission to reactivate posts under the same name and number where proper request is made.

Amendments Made

During yesterday's session, a score of amendments were made to department by-laws after Irvin Maeders, chairman, made his report. Most of these were for the purpose of clarification. However, a couple were regarded as important.

One of these now provides that each post must pay the $1 registration fee for each encampment delegate at least 15 days before the opening of the encampment. Otherwise the delegate's right to register and vote will be forfeited.

Another changes the Council of Administration meetings from quarterly to monthly. Another provides that a new post applying for charter must have enrolled 25 new members.

Among guests at the convalesce yesterday was former State Senator Robert B. Kimble, now head of the Maryland Department of Employment Security. Kimble reported on the activities of his agency, and showed what is being done to place veterans in employment and help them readjust to civilian activity.

Tonight, the convention banquet will be held in the Shrine City Club followed by a dance there and also at the VFW and Legion post homes. Elections at both the men's and women's sessions are scheduled for tomorrow followed by installation and adjournment.

County Circuit Court, was the first president.

Upon Mr. Young's death in 1916, Oliver S. Wilson, of the Wilson and Pugh Company (wholesale hardware partnership here) was elected president. He served until his death in 1923 when his partner in the hardware business, Ferman G. Pugh, was elected to take his place.

Pugh, who died in 1938, was succeeded by Wilbur V. Wilson, local attorney, son of Oliver S. Wilson. Wilson is still president.

The cashier until his death in 1933 was Thomas B. Lashley. Since then George C. Cook has been vice president and cashier. The Commercial Savings Bank has had a steady growth during the past seven years. In June 1949 it paid a stock dividend of 50 per cent and increased its capital from $50,000 to $75,000. In June 1954, it paid another stock dividend of 33 1/3 per cent and increased the capital to $100,000.

We need fences. They serve a good purpose. They give protection. But unless they have gates in them, they stop being fences and they become barriers. Without that gate, for instance, Mary Jane couldn't go across to the garden next door, and play with the little girl who lives there.

And, just as we need physical fences sometimes, we need mental and spiritual fences too. We need the privacy of our own thoughts, the sanctity of our own beliefs.

Danger comes only when we build barriers rather than fences around our inner selves. For none of us can live in spiritual isolation. We must have gates in our personal fences. We must permit Faith to enter. We must commune with others . . . and, above all, with God.

They Weren't Fooled By 'Hoax And Farce'

When is a student conference not a student conference? The answer, in 1956, calls for only a modicum of political sophistication: When Communists run it. For "student conference" substitute peace conference or labor conference or any other sort of conference and the answer comes out the same.

At any gathering where Communists are functioning as a coordinated team, they are promoting aims which diverge from the announced goals to which the non-Communist delegates are dedicated.

But these tactics are not quite as effective as they once were. They backfired at Bandung, where an Asian-African Students Conference was under way. The delegation from the Philippines challenged the credentials of delegates from 11 nations, many of whom were Communist party representatives old enough to be the parents of students.

Delegates from India and Pakistan supported the Philippine charge that the conference was a "hoax and a farce" set up by the Communists. The government of Indonesia, shocked by this Communist attempt to abuse its hospitality by subverting its neutralism, withdrew financial support from the conference. "We had no idea," said a spokesman, "as to what we were giving birth."

At least they caught on fast. Public opinion in Asia sometimes swallows the Reds' bait if the hook is even half concealed. But the governments are somewhat less gullible.

The point is that the Communists insist on using the methods of domination, and what they do speaks louder, eventually, than what they say.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Lost Human Beings

There are all sorts of refugees in this world. Wars and revolutions have made millions of people homeless. And homelessness is cruel no matter who the people, what the cause.

One of the most difficult situations is that in which about 3,500 Chinese students in the United States find themselves. They came here to study in American universities and they cannot return home. Some of them are in financial difficulties. The Communist government in Peking, through the Indian embassies in Washington and at the United Nations, is putting pressure upon many of them to return to Communist China. For some reason, the Nationalist Government in Formosa does not concern itself very much with this problem, although one would imagine that it would attract their attention.

Archbishop Paul Yu-pin of Nanking, who spends much of his time in the United States, has made the plight of the Chinese student, not only in the United States but in Europe, his special care. In New York, he is president of Sino-American Amity which is a non-political but nevertheless anti-Communist organization with a building of its own on Riverside Drive. This is a students' center and while many members are Americans, the Sino-American Amity provides a point of contact between Chinese students and Americans so that public as well as personal problems may be ironed out sympathetically and with some expertness.

The dislocated person finds that time has passed him by. It is true that some Chinese students, particularly those who have taken engineering or scientific courses, are able to get work in the United States and a small number are even teaching in American universities, but when they came to this country to study, they never intended to remain away from their homes and their families permanently. Many of them undoubtedly were ambitious to be of service to their country. But they are unwilling to return to Red China where their families are.

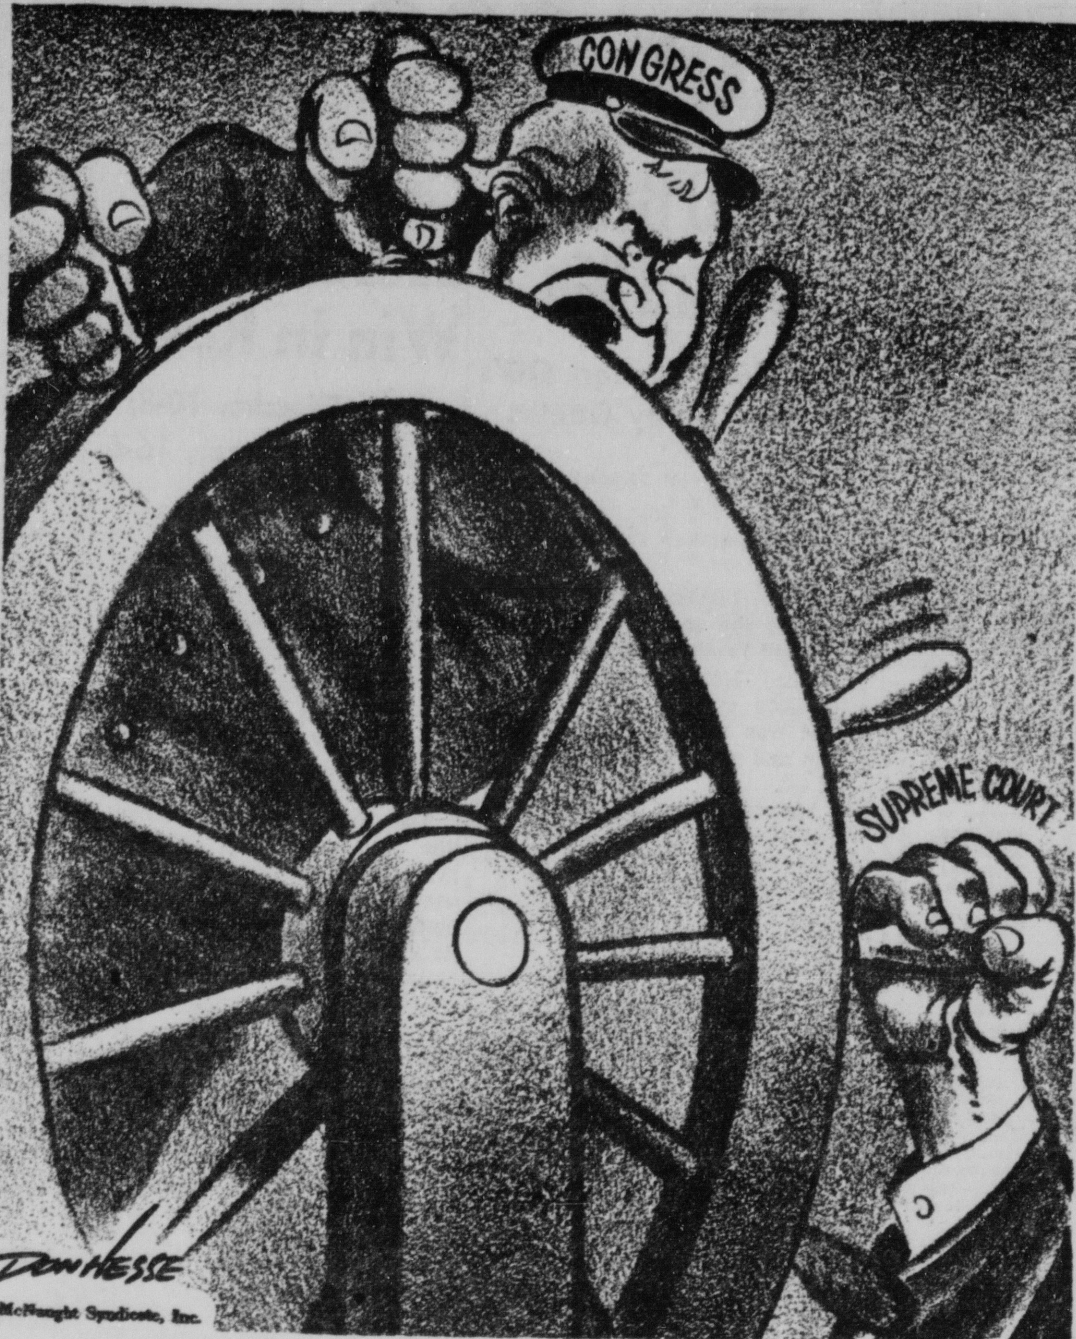

This is only one phase of the world refugee problem and these men and women are fortunate that such a personality as Archbishop Yu-pin has devoted himself to it. In other parts of the world, refugees from war and revolution and the vast changes that have taken place are left without security or opportunity. On the other hand, those Europeans who were able to emigrate to Australia, Canada and the United States seem to be doing very well and the Jews from Europe and Africa who have found sanctuary in Israel have the emotional satisfaction of building a new nation.

Both the Russians and the Red Chinese are putting terrific pressures upon their own people and those of the other Communist countries to return. It is difficult to understand why it is so important for them to force people to live where they do not wish to live. The method is actually a type of emotional blackmail—a letter from a mother who when last seen could not write in any language, or from a lost brother or sister. Nevertheless, a letter from mother evokes an emotional response whoever may have written or dictated it. Such soul-stirring blackmail is always an effective weapon—but why? What great difference does it make if these people live in the United States rather than in Soviet Russia? If the Communists wish them to communicate with their families, all that needs to be done is to start a letter-writing campaign.

The answer is psychological rather than political. Every person who refuses to return to a Communist country ipso facto condemns that country, whether he be a Chinese scholar with a Ph.D. or a former Ukrainian peasant who has become a shepherd in Australia. Apparently what is wanted is that such a person should return to his own country, stand before a radio microphone and tell how happy he is to be home and how he suffered at the hands of the capitalists and the imperialists. Such denunciations have actually occurred and sometimes the speakers were among those who had been kidnapped from the United States by Soviet authorities.

After he has made that statement, the former refugee passes out of the picture. He has served some purpose but to the Western mind, it is impossible to understand what that purpose can be. Who really cares!

Fuss About Ike's Health Contrasted With FDR's

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When Presidential Secretary James Hagerty said he wasn't going to engage in a debate with newsmen on what some doctors have been quoted in the press as saying about the President's illness because, as he points out, they don't know this particular case, it was, of course, a common-sense decision.

There is a certain puzzlement, however, as to why there are such persistent attempts in the press to try to knock down what the President's physicians have said.

FDR Carefully Screened

It's a strange contrast to the way the press behaved from the time Franklin D. Roosevelt became a candidate for the presidency in 1932 till the day he died in April 1945. Not a single movie newscaster and not a single news photograph that this correspondent ever saw or heard about told the people that the President of the United States actually couldn't walk, that special ramps had to be built at the White House and the Capitol, that he couldn't stand when greeting foreign visitors, or that he never stood up at a single press conference. When he campaigned, his entrances to and exits from meeting places were carefully screened.

None of the news dispatches of the President's inauguration on January 20, 1945, moreover, reported that Mr. Roosevelt had to be lifted up by members of his family and supported while he took the oath of office and read the inaugural address from the White House balcony. There was no adverse comment on why he didn't go to the Capitol for the occasion.

Throughout Mr. Roosevelt's public life—as governor of New York and as a candidate for the presidency and while he was in the White House during a period of more than 12 years—no appreciable number of the American people ever knew of the physical disability of the man they elected four times. Some newsmen hereabouts were told in 1944 about the comment of an eminent Boston physician that a paralysis such as Mr. Roosevelt had suffered would cut down his life expectancy. But they didn't write the story.

Good Taste And Decency

Was this a mistake on the part of the press and its photographers? Not at all. It was good taste and decency. It was a respect for the high office of president. The only question that was germane then and that is germane now is whether a president is mentally capable. A man with the type of heart attack Mr. Eisenhower has had doesn't suffer an injury to his mind—and neither does anyone with his experience with ileitis.

Then why is so much prominence given to the speculation by one or two doctors that the illness might recur when the doctors handling the case say they believe it will not recur? Why is there so much emphasis on the alleged damage of the stomach ailment expressed by Democratic politicians and their henchmen who keep on thinking up every day new angles for skepticism?

The theory usually heard in defense of such tactics is that the American people are entitled to all the facts about their president. They certainly are, but the implication that, when once they know the facts, they will not vote to re-

Pan American Airways Grilled Again About Hiring People Close To Ike

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Pan American Airways' personable, persuasive Juan Trippe complained to a House subcommittee the other day about a story in this column but succeeded only in getting raked over the congressional coals as a result.

Trippe didn't like this column's report that Pan Am had hired three men close to the Eisenhower administration—President Eisenhower's nephew, Milton Eisenhower Jr.; former Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Roger Lewis; and former Undersecretary of Commerce Robert Murray.

"I have a brief statement," Trippe told the House Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee. "I refer to certain people who have recently joined Pan American. Drew Pearson in a recent column made some improper and inaccurate charges related to this matter. I wish to answer these charges here and now. These, Mr. Chairman have to do with young Milton Eisenhower, Robert Murray, and Roger Lewis."

"Mr. Trippe, we are going to ask you about Roger Lewis," Chairman Emanuel Celler, Brooklyn Democrat, said sternly. "But that has nothing to do with what Mr. Pearson may or may not have written."

Thereupon, Celler began firing questions at the Pan Am president, who kept trying to make his complaint, regardless of the questions. "Mr. Trippe," Celler finally exploded, "this inquiry must be conducted in a regular way. Now I am chairman, and I like to ask questions in a regular way. Be patient and you will have your chance."

OK'd Pan Am Contract

The chastened Trippe meekly answered a series of questions, acknowledging—as reported by this column—that Lewis had left the Air Force to become a Pan Am Air Force president, that Pan Am had an Air Force contract to run the guided missile range at Patrick Air Base, Fla., and that the contract already has cost the taxpayers $34,420,000 including a million-dollar fee for Pan Am.

"Are you familiar, Mr. Trippe, with the fact that on January 28, 1954, Mr. Lewis, as assistant secretary of the Air Force, formally approved this contract?" demanded Herb Maletz, who had taken over the questioning.

"I understand it was a contract, the sponsor of which is the Department of Defense and not the Air Force," retorted Trippe.

Maletz then introduced several Air Force documents into the record, showing that Lewis had taken an active part in deciding who should get the contract.

"As I understand the situation," explained Maletz, "Mr. Lewis as assistant secretary of the Air Force participated in approving Pan American's guided missile contract with the Air Force and then was employed by Pan American, among other things, to exercise operational supervision of this guided missile range contract."

Maletz acknowledged, however, that subsequently Lewis received instructions from Pan Am to stay out of negotiations with the Air Force "relating to the guided missile project or any other project of ours with which you may have had any connection while in the government."

Yet this same letter of instruction also declared: "Your initial assignments will include supervision of company projects relating to national defense, including operating supervision of the guided missile."

Impossible Position

This put Lewis in an impossible position. He is in charge of the guided missile contract that he helped award to Pan Am, though technically he's forbidden direct negotiations with the Air Force.

Trippe argued that the Pan Am contract had been initiated before Lewis became a high Air Force official. However, Maletz read an Air Force letter which declared flatly that Lewis had participated in approving the missile-range contract "notwithstanding that the program was initiated prior to his assuming the office."

Trippe also claimed that Lewis had submitted his resignation from the Air Force before he was approached by Pan Am.

"In fairness to Mr. Lewis," said Trippe, "and in fairness to the company, the record ought to be perfectly clear on that. As I say, he had at least five other offers before him, and we considered ourselves very fortunate, indeed, when he agreed to join Pan American. And he did so after getting a clearance from counsel of the Air Force that it was proper."

Maletz then pointed out that Lewis got a special option to buy 15,000 shares of Pan Am stock two months after joining the company. "Is it not correct," asked Maletz, "that as of the present time, only three other officers in Pan American have options outstanding as sizable as Mr. Lewis'?"

"I don't have the list with me," Mr. Counsel, countered Trippe. "We do, Mr. Trippe," Maletz assured the Pan Am boss. "Has any other officer of Pan American Corporation, who was with the corporation for less than five years, ever been given an option of 15,000 shares or more?"

"I don't think that is a fair question," grumbled Trippe, "because the option plan has not been in effect that long."

"My question," snapped Maletz, "is whether you can point to any officer of Pan American who has received a stock option of 15,000 shares who has been with the company for less than five years."

"No," acknowledged Trippe. This ended the cross-examination regarding the employment of Assistant Air Secretary Lewis. Trippe did not further mention the other two Pan Am officials, Milton Eisenhower Jr., and Undersecretary of Commerce Murray, whom the company also retained.

Merry-Go-Round

General Lucius Clay, one of Ike's closest friends and now head of giant Continental Can, is urging Wall Street friends to quit retiring corporation executives at age 65—at least until after the election. . . . Joe McCarthy has dropped word to friends that he'll retire from the Senate when his term expires in '58. He will then be 49. Reason is not age, but partly boredom (things are different now); partly skittishness about taking a chance on re-election. He might lose. . . . The headquarters of Bill Knowland of California has taken at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco is large enough so it can be made presidential headquarters in case Ike bows out of the race.

Inside Washington

By Central Press

Brother Barnabas, whose column regularly appears in this position on Saturdays, is on a short vacation. His column will be resumed upon his return.

WASHINGTON—Experts on Soviet affairs believe the Korean War may have been part of a campaign by the late Josef Stalin to rule—or ruin—Communist China.

These experts say that during the late 1940s Stalin was extremely unhappy about the rise of another Communist state so powerful that it endangered his position as boss of all the Reds in the world.

They recall that Peiping was making its greatest strides at about the same time that Stalin was having his hands full with another recalcitrant state—Yugoslavia.

Therefore, they believe, Stalin set off the Korean War. His purpose: To cut the Red Chinese dictator, Mao Tse-tung, down to size. He reportedly figured it out this way: If the North Koreans could defeat the South Koreans quickly, it would not only enhance Russia's prestige in Asia, but would also give the Soviets a strong bastion to the east of China.

However, if the war dragged on, Stalin had a chance of involving the Chinese in a fight with the United States, thus making Peiping dependent on Russia for weapons.

Garbled Gobbledook

If anyone is wondering whether the GOP administration has made any changes in bureaucratic gobbledook, here is an example from a recent government release:

"The question is raised by the correspondence whether, if a new run should come in before an accustomed first run, in effect making the accustomed first run the second run, the new run is to be regarded as taking a clearance over the theaters following the former first run measured by adding together any clearance which the former first run takes over subsequent runs."

This is contained in a Justice Department Anti-Trust Division statement involving motion picture distributors. It was made public by the Senate Small Business Committee. Here it is:

"It is our view that the clearance between a number of runs cannot be added in this way to reach the conclusion that the first of a number of runs which follow each other is taking an unreasonable clearance over runs following an intermediate run. At most the new run takes a clearance over the first run which, in turn, takes a separate clearance over the run which follows it and so on."

Politics And Health

GOP strategists are beginning to take a sober second look at the political effects of President Eisenhower's recent operation and they've come to the conclusion that it's still an unknown quantity.

Republicans, at first alarmed that the President might withdraw from the November race or might not be able to run, appear more sanguine now.

Although Mr. Eisenhower has not made his views public, it is assumed that he will follow the advice of his doctors, who said the operation poses no obstacle.

Still, two questions remain to be answered. 1—How active a role can he play in the campaign? 2—How will voters react to his two illnesses in less than a year? Democrats now say privately that the health issue cannot possibly be kept out of the campaign and that Republicans will be on the defensive.

Fraud Cases Doubled

Fraud cases handled by the Justice Department more than doubled in number last year in comparison to 1954. Figures recently supplied to Congress showed that the department's frauds section got 2,299 new cases in 1955, in contrast with 1,129 in 1954 and 652 in 1953.

A statement accompanying the statistics said that "there has been a continuing increase in new business coming into this section." The department added: "The work of the frauds section deals with fraud in almost every phase of industry and agriculture."

In order to cope with these cases, the department said, federal attorneys must "familiarize themselves with the production techniques and the accounting and fiscal practices of the industries concerned."

Furthermore, the department stressed that "prompt action is essential for successful prosecution" because "otherwise evidence becomes more difficult to procure and present properly."

At any gathering where Communists are functioning as a coordinated team, they are promoting aims which diverge from the announced goals to which the non-Communist delegates are dedicated.

But these tactics are not quite as effective as they once were. They backfired at Bandung, where an Asian-African Students Conference was under way. The delegation from the Philippines challenged the credentials of delegates from 11 nations, many of whom were Communist party representatives old enough to be the parents of students.

Delegates from India and Pakistan supported the Philippine charge that the conference was a "hoax and a farce" set up by the Communists. The government of Indonesia, shocked by this Communist attempt to abuse its hospitality by subverting its neutralism, withdrew financial support from the conference. "We had no idea," said a spokesman, "as to what we were giving birth to."

At least they caught on fast. Public opinion in Asia sometimes swallows the Reds' bait if the hook is even half concealed. But the governments are somewhat less gullible.

The point is that the Communists insist on using the methods of domination, and what they do speaks louder, eventually, than what they say.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Lost Human Beings

There are all sorts of refugees in this world. Wars and revolutions have made millions of people homeless. And homelessness is cruel no matter who the people, what the cause.

One of the most difficult situations is that in which about 3,500 Chinese students in the United States find themselves. They came here to study in American universities and they cannot return home. Some of them are in financial difficulties. The Communist government in Peking, through the Indian embassies in Washington and at the United Nations, is putting pressure upon many of them to return to Communist China. For some reason, the Nationalist Government in Formosa does not concern itself very much with this problem, although one would imagine that it would attract their attention.

Archbishop Paul Yu-pin of Nanking, who spends much of his time in the United States, has made the plight of the Chinese student, not only in the United States but in Europe, his special care. In New York, he is president of Sino-American Amity which is a non-political but nevertheless anti-Communist organization with a building of its own on Riverside Drive. This is a students' center and while many members are Americans, the Sino-American Amity provides a point of contact between Chinese students and Americans so that public as well as personal problems may be ironed out sympathetically and with some effectiveness.

The dislocated person finds that time has passed him by. It is true that some Chinese students, particularly those who have taken engineering or scientific courses, are able to get work in the United States and a small number are even teaching in American universities, but when they came to this country to study, they never intended to remain away from their homes and their families permanently. Many of them undoubtedly were ambitious to be of service to their country. But they are unwilling to return to Red China where their families are.

This is only one phase of the world refugee problem and these men and women are fortunate that such a personality as Archbishop Yu-pin has devoted himself to it. In other parts of the world, refugees from war and revolution and the vast changes that have taken place are left without security or opportunity. On the other hand, those Europeans who were able to emigrate to Australia, Canada and the United States seem to be doing very well and the Jews from Europe and Africa who have found sanctuary in Israel have the emotional satisfaction of building a new nation.

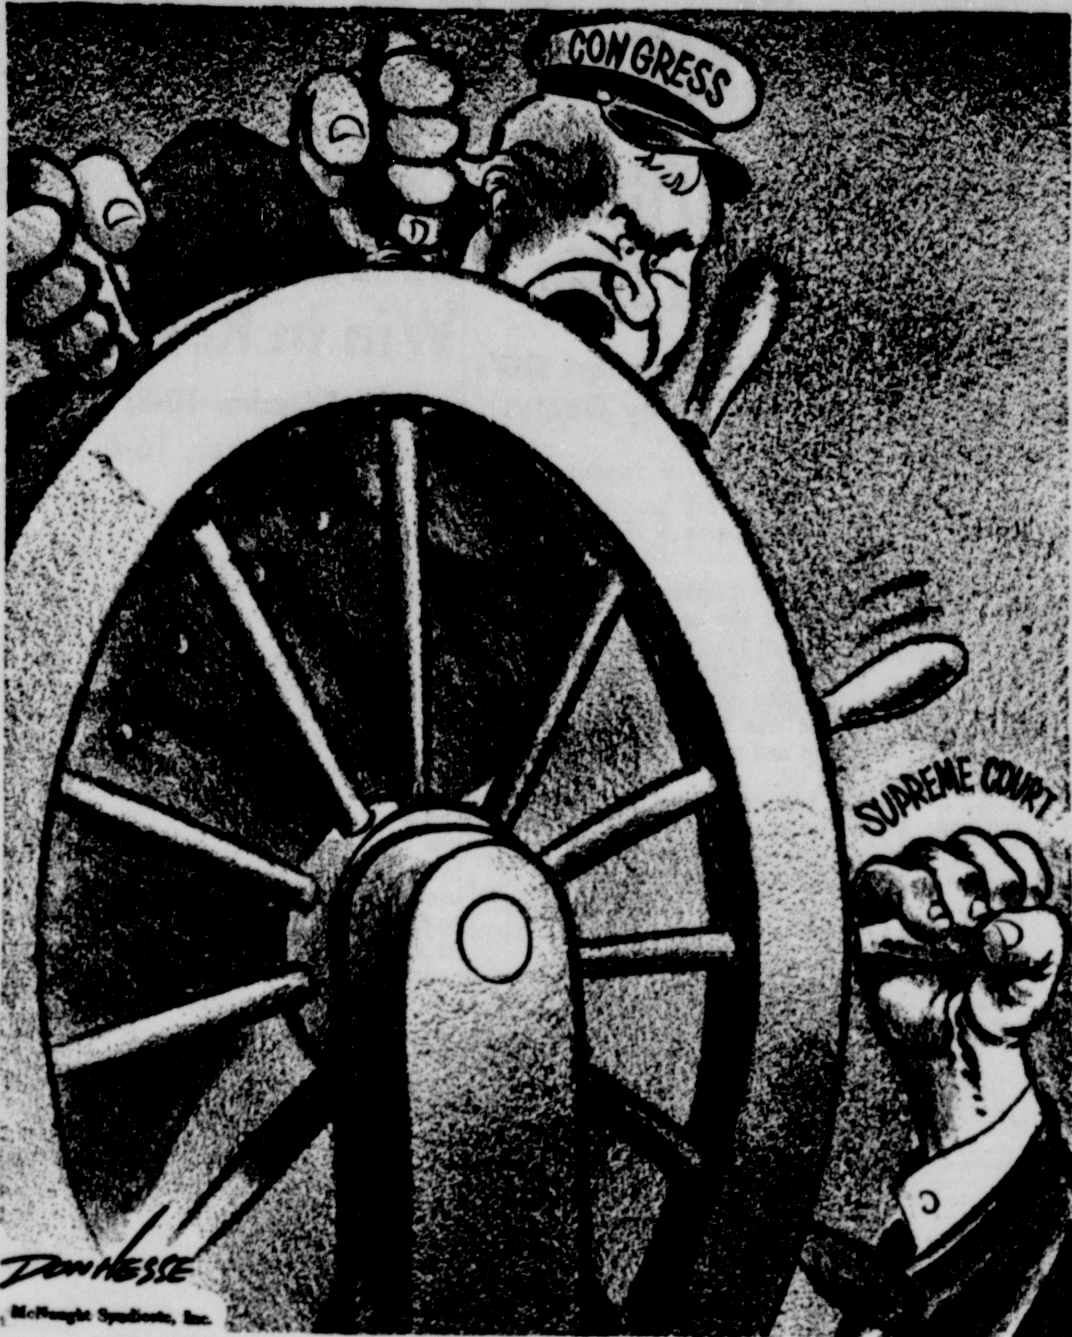

Both the Russians and the Red Chinese are putting terrific pressures upon their own people and those of the other Communist countries to return. It is difficult to understand why it is so important for them to force people to live where they do not wish to live. The method is actually a type of emotional blackmail—a letter from a mother who when last seen could not write in any language, or from a lost brother or sister. Nevertheless, a letter from mother evokes an emotional response whoever may have written or dictated it. Such soul-stirring blackmail is always an effective weapon—but why? What great difference does it make if these people live in the United States rather than in Soviet Russia? If the Communists wish them to communicate with their families, all that needs to be done is to start a letter-writing campaign.

The answer is psychological rather than political. Every person who refuses to return to a Communist country ipso facto condemns that country, whether he be a Chinese scholar with a Ph.D. or a former Ukrainian peasant who has become a shepherd in Australia. Apparently what is wanted is that such a person should return to his own country, stand before a radio microphone and tell how happy he is to be home and how he suffered at the hands of the capitalists and the imperialists. Such denunciations have actually occurred and sometimes the speakers were among those who had been kidnapped from the United States by Soviet authorities.

After he has made that statement, the former refugee passes out of the picture. He has served some purpose but to the Western mind, it is impossible to understand what that purpose can be. Who really cares!

"Hey!"

Fuss About Ike's Health Contrasted With FDR's

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—When Presidential Secretary James Hagerty said he wasn't going to engage in a debate with newsmen on what some doctors have been quoted in the press as saying about the President's illness because, as he points out, they don't know this particular case, it was, of course, a commonsense decision.

There is a certain puzzlement, however, as to why there are such persistent attempts in the press to try to knock down what the President's physicians have said.

FDR Carefully Screened

It's a strange contrast to the way the press behaved from the time Franklin D. Roosevelt became a candidate for the presidency in 1932 till the day he died in April 1945. Not a single movie newsreel and not a single news photograph of this correspondent ever saw or heard about told the people that the President of the United States actually couldn't walk, that special ramps had to be built at the White House and the Capitol, that he couldn't stand when greeting foreign visitors, or that he never stood up at a single press conference. When he campaigned, his entrances to and exits from meeting places were carefully screened.

None of the news dispatches of the President's inauguration on January 20, 1945, moreover, reported that Mr. Roosevelt had to be lifted up by members of his family and supported while he took the oath of office and read the inaugural address from the White House balcony. There was no adverse comment on why he didn't go to the Capitol for the occasion.

Throughout Mr. Roosevelt's public life—as as governor of New York and as a candidate for the presidency and while he was in the White House during a period of more than 12 years—no appreciable number of the American people ever knew of the physical disability of the man they elected four times. Some newsmen hereabouts were told in 1944 about the comment of an eminent Boston physician that a paralysis such as Mr. Roosevelt had suffered would cut down his life expectancy. But they didn't write the story.

Good Taste And Decency

Was this a mistake on the part of the press and its photographers? Not at all. It was good taste and decency. It was a respect for the high office of president. The only question that was germane then and that is germane now is whether a president is mentally capable. A man with the type of heart attack Mr. Eisenhower has had does not suffer an injury to his mind—and neither does anyone with his experience with ileitis.

Then why is so much prominence given to the speculation by one or two doctors that the illness might recur when the doctors handling the case say they believe it will not recur? Why is there so much emphasis on the alleged damage of the stomach ailment expressed by Democratic politicians and their henchmen who keep on thinking up every day new angles for skepticism?

The theory usually heard in defense of such tactics is that the American people are entitled to all the facts about their president. They certainly are, but the implication that, when once they know the facts, they will not vote to re-

Tight Shoes Frequent Cause Of Ingrown Toe Nail

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The ingrown toe nail is described as "a confounded nuisance." It never kills or disables seriously but causes enough discomfort to take the joy out of living. Why do nails grow in this fashion?

The most frequent cause is the wearing of tight shoes which squeeze the toes, forcing the skin against the edge of the nails. This explains why the condition is more prevalent in adolescents and young women who are going in for narrow shoes with high heels. In this respect, styles and customs have their drawbacks as ingrown nails seldom are noted among the barefooted.

Improper care of the nails is another origin of the defect. To avoid snapping the hose, many women keep the ends of the nails rounded. They should be cut straight across to allow the maximum expansion in the center rather than along the edge.

A defective nail root may be responsible because the nail grows more to the side than straight. Ringworm is one of the lesser known causes but the adjacent skin rather than the nail is at fault. The swollen, inflamed tissues are penetrated easily by the edge of the nail.

Infection is the usual aftermath of the ingrowing nail. Its edge is sharp and cuts into the skin whenever pressure is applied by hose or shoes.

Bacteria and other micro-organisms pass through the lacerated skin. In addition, the nail acts as a foreign body, festering like a sliver. Redness and tenderness are the first signs of infection.

It is difficult to walk and occasionally impossible to get the shoes on. Relief is obtained by soaking the feet in warm, soapy water several times a day. An antibiotic may prove beneficial. Soft slippers should be worn instead of shoes and although it is not necessary to stay in bed, activity must be minimized.

Abscess develops when infection localizes in one spot. A drop of pus usually escapes when pressure is applied to the nail. These lesions resemble a boil and are equally painful. Now and then infection extends to the base of the nail like a felon, or runaround, on the finger. Surgical drainage may be necessary.

The best way to prevent ingrowing nails is to wear proper shoes and keep the nails cut straight or with a slight V in the center. It also helps to put a bit of cotton under the edge of the nail every day over a long period. In time, the nail in the involved area assumes a less-curved aspect. Repeated trouble calls for surgical removal of the offending side of the nail. This office procedure is done under a local anesthetic with immediate relief.

Pan American Airways Grilled Again About Hiring People Close To Ike

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Pan American Airways' personable, persuasive Juan Trippe complained to a House subcommittee the other day about a story in this column but succeeded only in getting raked over the congressional coals as a result.

Trippe didn't like this column's report that Pan Am had hired three men close to the Eisenhower administration—President Eisenhower's nephew, Milton Eisenhower Jr.; former Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Roger Lewis; and former Undersecretary of Commerce Robert Murray.

"I have a brief statement," Trippe told the House Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee. "I refer to certain people who have recently joined Pan American. Drew Pearson in a recent column made some improper and inaccurate charges related to this matter. I wish to answer these charges here" and now. "These Mr. Chairman have to do with young Milton Eisenhower, Robert Murray, and Roger Lewis."

"Mr. Trippe, we are going to ask you about Roger Lewis," Chairman Emanuel Celler, Brooklyn Democrat, said sternly. "But that has nothing to do with what Mr. Pearson may or may not have written."

Thereupon, Celler began firing questions at the Pan Am president, who kept trying to make his complaint, regardless of the questions. "Mr. Trippe," Celler finally exploded, "this inquiry must be conducted in a regular way. Now I am chairman, and I like to ask questions in a regular way. Be patient and you will have your chance."

OK'd Pan Am Contract

The chastened Trippe meekly answered a series of questions, acknowledging—as reported by this column—that Lewis had left the Air Force to become a Pan Am vice president, that Pan Am had an Air Force contract to run the guided missile range at Patrick Air Base, Fla., and that the contract already has cost the taxpayers $34,420,000 including a million-dollar fee for Pan Am.

"Are you familiar, Mr. Trippe, with the fact that on January 28, 1954, Mr. Lewis, as assistant secretary of the Air Force, formally approved this contract?" demanded Herb Maletz, who had taken over the questioning.

"I understand it was a contract, the sponsor of which is the Department of Defense and not the Air Force," retorted Trippe.

Maletz then introduced several Air Force documents into the record, showing that Lewis had taken an active part in deciding who should get the contract.

"As I understand the situation," explained Maletz, "Mr. Lewis as assistant secretary of the Air Force participated in approving Pan American's guided missile contract with the Air Force and then was employed by Pan American, among other things, to exercise operational supervision of this guided missile range contract."

Maletz acknowledged, however, that subsequently Lewis received instructions from Pan Am to stay out of negotiations with the Air Force "relating to the guided missile project or any other project of ours with which you may have had any connection while in the government."

Yet this same letter of instruction also declared: "Your initial assignments will include supervision of company projects relating to national defense, including operating supervision of the guided missile."

Impossible Position

This put Lewis in an impossible position. He is in charge of the guided missile contract that he helped award to Pan Am, though technically he's forbidden direct negotiations with the Air Force.

Trippe argued that the Pan Am contract had been initiated before Lewis became a high Air Force official. However, Maletz read an Air Force letter which declared flatly that Lewis had participated in approving the missile-range contract "notwithstanding that the

Trippe also claimed that Lewis had submitted his resignation from the Air Force before he was approached by Pan Am.

"In fairness to Mr. Lewis," said Trippe, "and in fairness to the company, the record ought to be perfectly clear on that. As I say, he had at least five other offers before him, and we considered ourselves very fortunate, indeed, when he agreed to join Pan American. And he did so after getting a clearance from counsel of the Air Force that it was proper."

Maletz then pointed out that Lewis got a special option to buy 15,000 shares of Pan Am stock two months after joining the company. "Is it not correct," asked Maletz, "that as of the present time, only three other officers in Pan American have options outstanding as sizable as Mr. Lewis'?"

"I don't have the list with me," Mr. Counsel," countered Trippe.

"We do, Mr. Trippe," Maletz assured the Pan Am boss. "Has any other officer of Pan American Corporation, who was with the corporation for less than five years, ever been given an option of 15,000 shares or more?"

"I don't think that is a fair question," grumbled Trippe, "because the option plan has not been in effect that long."

"My question," snapped Maletz, "is whether you can point to any officer of Pan American who has received a stock option of 15,000 shares who has been with the company for less than five years?"

"No," acknowledged Trippe.

This ended the cross-examination regarding the employment of Assistant Air Secretary Lewis. Trippe did not further mention the other two Pan Am officials, Milton Eisenhower Jr., and Undersecretary of Commerce Murray, whom the company also retained.

Merry-Go-Round

General Lucius Clay, one of the closest friends and now head of giant Continental Can, is urging Wall Street friends to quit retiring corporation executives at age 65—at least until after the election. . . . Joe McCarthy has dropped word to friends that he'll retire from the Senate when his term expires in '58. He will then be 49. Reason is not age, but partly boredom (things are different now); partly skittishness about taking a chance on re-election. He might lose. . . . The headquarters of Bill Knowland of California has taken at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco is large enough so it can be made presidential headquarters in case Ike bows out of the race.

Inside Washington

By Central Press

Brother Barnabas, whose column regularly appears in this position on Saturdays, is on a short vacation. His column will be resumed upon his return.

WASHINGTON—Experts on Soviet affairs believe the Korean War may have been part of a campaign by the late Josef Stalin to rule—or ruin—Communist China.

These experts say that during the late 1940s Stalin was extremely unhappy about the rise of another Communist state so powerful that it endangered his position as boss of all the Reds in the world.

They recall that Peiping was making its greatest strides at about the same time that Stalin was having his hands full with another recalcitrant state—Yugoslavia.

Therefore, they believe, Stalin set off the Korean War. His purpose: To cut the Red Chinese dictator, Mao Tse-tung, down to size. He reportedly figured it out this way: If the North Koreans could defeat the South Koreans quickly, it would not only enhance Russia's prestige in Asia, but would also give the Soviets a strong bastion to the east of China.

However, if the war dragged on, Stalin had a chance of involving the Chinese in a fight with the United States, thus making Peiping dependent on Russia for weapons.

Garbled Gobbledgeek

If anyone is wondering whether the GOP administration has made any changes in bureaucratic gobbledgeek, here is an example from a recent government release:

"The question is raised by the correspondence whether, if a new run should come in before an accustomed first run, in effect making the accustomed first run the second run, the new run is to be regarded as taking a clearance over the theaters following the former first run measured by adding together any clearance which the former first run takes over subsequent runs."

This is contained in a Justice Department Anti-Trust Division statement involving motion picture distributors. It was made public by the Senate Small Business Committee. What was the division's conclusion. Here it is:

"It is our view that the clearance between a number of runs cannot be added in this way to reach the conclusion that the first of a number of runs which follow each other is taking an unreasonable clearance over runs following an intermediate run. At most the new run takes a clearance over the first run which, in turn, takes a separate clearance over the run which follows it and so on."

Politics And Health

GOP strategists are beginning to take a sober second look at the political effects of President Eisenhower's recent operation and they've come to the conclusion that it's still an unknown quantity.

Republicans, at first alarmed that the President might withdraw from the November race or might not be able to run, appear more sanguine now.

Although Mr. Eisenhower has not made his views public, it is assumed that he will follow the advice of his doctors, who said the operation poses no obstacle.

Still, two questions remain to be answered. 1—How active a role can he play in the campaign? 2—How will voters react to his two illnesses in less than a year? Democrats now say privately that the health issue cannot possibly be kept out of the campaign and that Republicans will be on the defensive.

Fraud Cases Doubled

Fraud cases handled by the Justice Department more than doubled in number last year in comparison to 1954. Figures recently supplied to Congress showed that the department's frauds section got 2,299 new cases in 1955, in contrast with 1,129 in 1954 and 652 in 1953.

A statement accompanying the statistics said that "there has been a continuing increase in new business coming into this section." The department added: "The work of the frauds section deals with fraud in almost every phase of industry and agriculture."

In order to cope with these cases, the department said, federal attorneys must "familiarize themselves with the production techniques and the accounting and fiscal practices of the industries concerned."

Furthermore, the department stressed that "prompt action is essential for successful prosecution" because "otherwise evidence becomes more difficult to procure and present properly."

University Of Florida Placed On Probation

The school was found guilty of permitting "outside agencies" to pay the travel expenses of Florida athletes; the university claimed they misunderstood the rules, and the conference today accepted the "misunderstanding" plea made by the school.

C., and Mrs. Thelma Richards, of Westminster, member of the Country Club of Maryland.

Eighteen holes will be played Thursday and a like number on Friday and the player with the low gross score for the 36 holes will gain a leg on the Old Export Bowl which must be won three times by the same player to be retired.

West Virginian Takes National Marbles Title

Fred Brown, Beckley, Wins At Asbury Park

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 22 (AP)—A West Virginian boy with seven rabbits' feet strapped to his belt knuckled down to win the national marbles championship today with a tense come-back victory.

Fred Brown, 12, son of a Beckley billboard parlor director, came from behind to beat a neighborhood rival, Dennis Kyle, 12, of Richmond, Va., in the 21-game final match. Brown fell behind seven games to two but rallied to tie Kyle 10-10 and then take the deciding game.

Said the new champ: "My rabbits' feet what did it." Most of the good luck charms were Brown's but a couple were gifts from youngsters eliminated in earlier rounds.

Brown and Kyle were last survivors of some three million boys and girls from 42 states who entered the six-month competition. In shooting his way into the finals, Kyle had eliminated southern champion, Albert Wade, 13, of Greensboro, N. C. as well as the new girls' champion, Lynette Watkins, 13, Philadelphia, in the semifinal round. Brown had defeated last year's runner-up, Dick Hickman, 11, Huntington, W. Va.

Brown's victory won him a week's trip to Jamaica in the West Indies and a bicycle. He will also make TV appearances.

Tucker County State Aid To Schools Cut

PARSONS—New allocation figures from the State Board of Finance show that Tucker County will be cut $15,041 in state aid for the coming school year, according to Steiman W. Harper, county superintendent of schools.

Harper said that total state aid for the county, including $1,602 in supplementary aid, will amount to $344,302, compared to $359,343 received in 1955-56.

The figures place Tucker among 21 counties that will lose money for school purposes.

Harper said the total foundation program in Tucker County should have to finance schools during 1956-57, as based on the school formula which is $425,733. The county's share, according to state tax commissioner's survey, is $83,033.

Harper attributed the loss in state aid to the increase in Tucker County's local share. Last year the county was required to raise only $52,710 locally.

Tucker County State Aid To Schools Cut

PARSONS—New allocation figures from the State Board of Finance show that Tucker County will be cut $15,041 in state aid for the coming school year, according to Steiman W. Harper, county superintendent of schools.

Harper said that total state aid for the county, including $1,602 in supplementary aid, will amount to $344,302, compared to $359,343 received in 1955-56.

The figures place Tucker among 21 counties that will lose money for school purposes.

Harper said the total foundation program in Tucker County should have to finance schools during 1956-57, as based on the school formula which is $425,733. The county's share, according to state tax commissioner's survey, is $83,033.

Harper attributed the loss in state aid to the increase in Tucker County's local share. Last year the county was required to raise only $32,710 locally.

South's announced minimum of 6 points, and his presumably balanced hand, indicated that the combined best chance for game was at notrump. A rebid of three diamonds does not serve much purpose. Even if there is a diamond fit, the play for nine tricks at notrump looks easier than an eleven-trick contract. Game in hearts is unlikely in view of South's failure to raise to two hearts immediately.

of the tricks, making four no-trump. Better defense by West will defeat three no-trump one trick.
By making use of one of the conventions which govern defense, West can defeat the contract. If winning the king, his correct return lead is the higher one. Therefore, since East returned the eight, West can tell that the declarer has the ten of spades, even though South played the queen on the second trick. The next problem that West has to solve is the question of who has the missing six of spades. This he can do by tentatively placing it in South's hand, but the possibility is quickly dismissed because it cannot be reconciled with declarer's play of the queen on trick two. If declarer had originally Q-10-6-5 in spades, while he might play the five on the opening lead, he would surely play the six on the second trick, since dummy's jack is a commanding card next to the outstanding ace. It would cost South a trick to play the queen instead of the six if he had it. Therefore, East must be presumed to hold the six of spades.

Once this is granted, West must allow the queen of spades to win the trick since he wants to maintain communication with East's six of spades. The declarer cannot overcome this defensive maneuver. He is destined to go down one.

How Things Shape Up

A shapely firm bosom and upper chest are much to be desired in this season of bathing suits and strapless dresses. Remember that good posture makes even the drooping bosom look uplifted—so practice good carriage.
For those of you interested in developing, or preserving a beautiful bust, here are the exercises to help you.
Stand with the heels together, stomach pulled in, and the arms extended and crossed in front of the body shoulder high. Cross right arm above the left. At the count of two, swing arms forward again with the right arm under the left. At three, swing arms backward again with lots of force. At four, resume the starting position. Put lots of zeal in this exercise — swinging the arms backward with force. When you swing the arms forward, be sure that you cross the arms at the elbows. Use the counts one and two to inhale and three and four to exhale. Do this exercise 10 times a day for the first week and about 25 times a day after that.

Do this exercise in front of the mirror. Followed faithfully, it will lift and firm the bust and also teach you to carry your shoulders well, so the improvement is easily seen. Make a baton from a sawed-off broom. Stand tall, stomach in, head straight. Hold baton straight down in front... the firmer the grip, the greater benefit to the muscles. Breathing deeply, raise the baton straight-armed over your head. Keep a firm grip as you bring it back up over and down in front. Do slowly. Start out with two or three times, until you can do ten.
Fun exercises like swimming does much to strengthen the pectoral muscles and gives you wonderful bust development.

State VFW Wages Battle For Veterans

Delegates Launch
Campaign To Halt
'Raids' On Benefits

It became evident yesterday that a militant band of leaders and delegates steers the course of the 36th annual Maryland encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and charts the course for the next fiscal year.

At the opening session in Central YMCA, following the customary welcome from Mayor Roy W. Eves, introduction of guests and usual convention routine, the convention settled down to serious business.

The women's auxiliary, which met jointly for the opening ceremony, then departed for Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom where they spent several hours on routine, reports and business of their 89 units. At 3 p. m. they were joined by the men for the annual, colorful and impressive memorial service.

But at the encampment session, early resistance to recommended changes in benefits to war veterans appeared to be the keynote.

Opposition to proposals of a commission headed by Gen. Omar N. Bradley came on two fronts.

Letter Campaign

Wyman Chadwick, national service officer, asked each individual delegate and member to write letters to President Eisenhower and all Maryland Congressmen against any changes in veterans' benefits.

The resolution committee will bring to the floor this morning a strongly worded resolution calling the Bradley Commission report "just another ill-concealed assault upon veterans' benefit programs and the payment of pensions and other benefits to veterans and their widows."

The targets of the VFW's fire are recommendations made after a study of the Veterans Administration by the Bradley Commission. The proposals of the commission would:

1. Eliminate payments for disability or disease presumed to have been contracted during military service.
2. Eliminate statutory awards for loss of limbs or sight.
3. Transfer non-service pensions to Social Security.
4. Eliminate payments for disability less than 30 per cent.
5. Redefine the widow's pension status that would eliminate benefits.

Study Group Named

In addition to resolutions already before the resolutions committee, State Commander Edward Tatman of Salisbury named a special committee on this commission report. The committee is headed by William Earl Griffin, a past state commander.

The encampment resolutions committee comprised of Albert W. Styles and nine other delegates including Past Commander Frank H. Webb of Baltimore and formerly of Cumberland, held hearings yesterday afternoon on some 35 resolutions which will come before the delegates this morning.

One of the special orders of business yesterday was to clear the way for plenty of time on these resolutions. When Chairman Styles takes the floor at about 10:30 o'clock this morning to report on the resolutions, the delegates decreed that there should be no interruptions or other order of business until this task is finished, no matter how long it takes.

Thus far, the committee appears to have approved most of the resolutions. However, three will get an unfavorable report. They are:

No. 4 resolution which covers the cancellation of all by-laws of the department, with the substitution of national constitution and by-laws, manual of procedure and regulations.

Jaycees Plan Welcome For Cavalcade

Members of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce will extend greetings this morning to a cavalcade of Virginia Jaycees who will stop here on their way to the national convention of the Jaycees in Kansas City.

The 100-car delegation is slated to arrive at the Cumberland-Ridgely Bridge at 10:30 a. m., accompanied by a West Virginia State Police escort.

They will be met at Riverside Park by the local Jaycee delegation.

Mayor Roy W. Eves will extend the city's welcome and Kenneth J. Williams, president, the best wishes of the Cumberland Jaycees. Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde has informed Leonard Schwab, chairman of the welcoming committee, that he expects to be present.

The convention bound delegation will be escorted by Maryland State Police to the Super 40 Drive In theater, where doughnuts and coffee will be served by local Jaycees.

U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall plans to welcome the Jaycees and their wives during the refreshment break, when souvenirs of the Queen City and its industries will be presented.

Greetings of Gov. McKeldin will be extended by Schwab.

The Virginia Jaycees plan to resume their trip after the half-hour break here.

Experienced Corps Of Vets Keeps Conclave Running

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

Behind the scenes of every convention there are always people who keep the wheels turning and business running smoothly. There are also people who spend weeks planning and preparing for the big session.

At the VFW encampment here, people like Roy C. Gambler, adjutant and quartermaster, Albert W. Styles, chairman of the resolutions committee; Martin Sinsheimer, chairman of Rules of Order; Commander Edward W. Tatman of Salisbury, and several past department commanders, know the problem and keep the wheels in motion.

An able assistant is the department's Girl Friday, the office secretary, Mrs. Margaret E. East, who is here as recorder and secretary. In addition to taking volumes of notes, mimeographing reports and other necessary data, she and Gambler also use a tape recorder which permanently records every word that goes on at the encampment.

Mrs. East is a member of West Baltimore Auxiliary Unit 476. She has served as president of the auxiliary and is presently district commander of the Ninth District. Her husband, William L. East, is one of the department's color guards.

Mrs. East has served the department for almost six years. She asserted yesterday that all of the six commanders who have found "plenty for me to do," have been men of ability, interest in the progress and growth of the VFW and problems of all veterans.

Among these men, she noted, is Frank H. Webb, a former member of Henry Hart Post 1411 in Cumberland. Webb was the youngest man ever elected state department commander and is the only department commander this section has ever produced.

He now resides at 1001 Arnclyffe Road, Middlesex, and is employed as a production engineer at the Glenn L. Martin Company as supervisor of the production department in Plant No. 2. This is where work on the earth satellite is under way.

Webb served as department commander in 1952-53, and his wife, Mrs. Eva L. Webb, served as state auxiliary president the same term. Both are active in the VFW.

Cooper, Benjamin Y., 78, of near Petersburg, Va. Madore, Walter A., 74, of 46 North Creek Street.

State Seeks $1,923 In Civil Suit

A Zihlman resident is being sued by the State of Maryland for alleged overpayments of workmen's compensation amounting to $1,923.45.

The damage suit, filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court, was brought against Raymond Geary by Philip T. McCusker, special attorney, and Thomas B. Finan, local attorney, representing the state, to the use of the State Accident Fund.

According to the declaration, the Medical Board of the State Industrial Accident Commission found that Geary was entitled to $1,000 in accordance with the Workmen's Compensation Law.

The decision was reversed by the commission and an order was issued allowing Geary an award equivalent to $12,500 for disability of silicosis.

The decision was appealed by the State Accident Fund and the employer to the local Circuit Court, which upheld the Commission. The Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the lower court and affirmed findings of the Medical Board of the commission.

During the interim, the State Accident Fund paid to Geary a total of $2,730 from September 20, 1954 to March 19, 1956, an overpayment of $1,730.

The defendant, the declaration adds, also owes the plaintiff expenses incurred by the plaintiff in the Court of Appeals, which amounted to $193.45.

Counsel for the plaintiff is seeking summary judgement on the grounds.

Twigg Reunion
Planned Sunday

The 10th annual Twigg reunion will be held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Pearl Barrett on Green Ridge Mountain.

Up to 150 members of the clan, descendants of Oliver P. and Mary Ann Stallings Twigg, are expected to attend.

The reunion will open with a picnic lunch at noon.

Those huge earth-moving vehicles, the Euclids, being used in the flood control work along Wills Creek, apparently fascinated a local youngster to the extent that he had to get up on one and drive it.

A workman for the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor for the work, called City Police yesterday afternoon and said a boy about 12 or 14 years of age was tampering with one of the vehicles.

The lad managed to get the motor started, but before he could get it moving he was seen by the workman. He will be picked up for identification and questioning, according to Officer Carl Stouffer, who investigated.

The vehicle was parked on a lot above the B&O Viaduct between North Mechanic Street and the creek. Police warn parents to instruct their children to keep away from the heavy equipment.

AFL Meeting Set

The Allegany Trades Council will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Allegany Labor Temple.

State VFW Leaders Confer

State Department Veterans of Foreign Wars, Military Order of Cooties and the Ladies Auxiliary "top brass" held brief conferences yesterday during a lull in the day's activities. At upper left are three men who are helping steer the activities of the oldest veteran organization in the state. At left is J. William McAvoy, senior vice commander and candidate for commander. In the center is Jean R. Brelsford Jr., commander of the Cooties; while at the right is present VFW Commander Edward W. Tatman. In the photo above right are officers of the Auxiliary. Mrs. Lottie Schwartz, senior vice president is at the left. In the center is Mrs. Ruth Leight, president, and at the right is Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, junior vice commander.

Supervisors Discuss Md. Land Week

Meet Slated
On July 27

Plans for the observance of Maryland Land Week went one step further yesterday afternoon during a meeting of the Allegany Soil Conservation District Supervisors in the office of Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent.

A meeting will be held at 1 p. m. July 27 at Steger's office to discuss detailed plans of the Land Week program which will be held September 9-15.

Meanwhile, organizations throughout the county will be contacted by mail to send a representative to the meeting.

Groups Contacted

Among the various groups being contacted are County Council of Homemakers, sportsmen's clubs, district forester, women's clubs, teachers association, soil conservation, district councils of Boy and Girl Scouts, Board of Education, Farm Bureau, Chamber of Commerce and religious groups.

During the meeting, Land Week will be outlined including the objectives of the annual observance, and the organization of a committee will be conducted.

Present at the meeting yesterday were Ernest Slider, chairman, Steger, Floyd Buser, and Charles Harvey. Other supervisors who were absent are Wilbert Paul, Mt. Savage and D. T. Puffinberger, Piney Plains.

Objectives Outlined

The objectives of Land Week, Steger pointed out, are to encourage the use of soil and water conservation practices by those who till the land; to impress all citizens of the state with their dependence upon the soil, and to acquaint them with the effects of erosion, improper drainage and soil deficiencies upon their health and welfare.

Another aim is to create a better understanding of the interdependence of soil, forests, water and wildlife and the need for their wise use and development for their esthetic and economic values.

Rubber Workers Plan Annual Dance

Plans for the dance are in charge of A. J. Jenkins, chairman, and members of the Kelly local's entertainment committee. Refreshments will be served and each member may bring a guest.

Guard Will Get

The men will travel to Fort Dix by train after being given final instructions by Chief Warrant Officer Arnett Arrington of Company C.

They will receive basic infantry training and will fire the various weapons of an infantryman.

Local Veteran To Marshal VFW Parade Here Today

One of the most colorful convention parades ever held here is promised for this afternoon by Thomas K. Whalley, general parade chairman for the Department of Maryland Veterans of Foreign Wars annual encampment.

Scheduled to form at 2:30 p. m. and start moving at 3 p. m. from South Cumberland toward the up-town business area, the grand review will be marshaled by Whalley, assisted by marshals in each division.

Whalley, who is a past commander of Henry Hart Post three times, and who served 15 years as post adjutant, has also served as a department inspector, aide de camp to the national commander in chief and aide de camp to the department commander, has served as encampment chairman once and co-chairman twice in past years. He has served as chairman or on almost every committee in VFW and has been one of the most active members in the area since he first joined Henry Hart Post January 2, 1928.

Whalley served in the United States Navy two years during World War I, and was honorably discharged as a Second Class Quartermaster. He has been a city letter carrier for 35½ years, serving the entire time out of the Cumberland substation in South Cumberland. Postal officials say this is a record no other local carrier holds. Last night he expressed his appreciation to police and other officials for helping set up the parade route.

The route of march will be from Fifth Street on Virginia Avenue, along the avenue to Oldtown Road, westward on Oldtown Road to Wineow Street, then to Williams Street and from there to South Centre Street. The marchers will move along Centre Street to Market Street, to Mechanic Street, to Baltimore Street, to George Street, disbanding on Commerce Street.

Six Divisions Assured
Six divisions are already assured, with more units expected to participate. A reviewing stand will be located at the City Hall for judges and officials. Parade judges include Ralph R. Baird, Walter G. Fisher, Lt. Col. Robert C. Matlick, and Lt. Commander Gordon H. McCrea.

The First Division of the parade will be marshaled by George Speis. It will form on Fifth Street facing Virginia Avenue and will be led by Hyndman-Londonderry Joint High School Band of Hyndman, Pa. The VFW national and department officers will follow in autos. Victory Post 155, American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, West-ernport, will follow with VFW.

City Officer Gets Hearing On Suspension

Board Asks Transcript,
Will Give Decision

A hearing was held yesterday afternoon by the Civil Service Commission on an appeal filed by Police Officer Charles E. Snider on a five-day suspension from duty.

The hearing, on charges that Officer Snider (1) failed to report for duty fully equipped (did not have a mace) and (2) failed to go home after ordered to do so by the desk sergeant, was held in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves before the full board.

Ralph R. Webster, chairman, said the commission will meet and decide "to support or not to support" the charges after testimony is transcribed.

Testimony was presented by Officer Snider, who was represented by Peter J. Carpentieri; by Sgt. James W. Brown, who was in charge of the 1 to 9 a. m. platoon on June 7; Sgt. George E. Pfeiffer, who was in charge of the desk at the time of the incident which resulted in the charges, and Officer Richard W. Lashley.

Incident Recounted

Sgt. Brown testified he had ordered Sgt. Pfeiffer to make sure all men were fully equipped before going on duty. Sgt. Pfeiffer told of calling the roll at 12:55 a. m. and assigning beats after checking on equipment.

Officer Snider, he said, reported he did not have his mace, and was told he would have to go home, and then see the police chief.

Sgt. Pfeiffer said Officer Snider protested and told Sgt. Brown he had never heard or seen orders about carrying maces.

Then, Sgt. Pfeiffer said, Officer Snider said, "Well, if that's all I need I can get a mace quickly."

Sgt. Pfeiffer said Sgt. Brown agreed Officer Snider could go ahead if he could get a club. As Snider started off Pfeiffer told him to be back in five minutes, he said.

Sgt. Pfeiffer said he and Sgt. Brown waited until 1:15 a. m. and then, believing Officer Snider was not coming back, transferred an officer from Baltimore Street to the Virginia Avenue beat.

Sent Officer Home

Then at 2 a. m., he said, Officer Snider called in from Box 10, at Centre and Valley streets. Pfeiffer said he told the officer to go home, and that he was not assigned to that beat. Pfeiffer said Officer Snider had been assigned to the Virginia Avenue beat when the roll was called.

Officer Snider said he had assumed he would be assigned to the North End beat, which he usually works, after he picked up his mace from his car at Police Headquarters. He said he did not hear Sgt. Pfeiffer tell him to be back in five minutes.

Officer Snider said he had never been issued a mace. A copy of equipment issued to him when he began work was submitted by Assistant Chief B. F. Gaffney and Commissioner William V. Keegan, but not his own evidence.

Officer Snider also testified to loaning a mace to Officer Lashley while the latter was on duty, and Lashley also testified to the incident.

Banner Year Is Slated On Playgrounds

Early enrollment and enthusiasm point to a banner playground season.

City recreation officials reported yesterday that enrollment reached the 2,024 mark for the first time, in spite of heavy rains two days this week.

The total is more than 500 above first week enrollment last year, when final figures reached the 2,964 mark.

The peak in enrollment should be reached in about a week, according to Mrs. Eva Hogan, assistant to Robert E. Pence, recreation director.

Playgrounds will continue to register for the next few weeks, officials said.

Recreation officials have been impressed with the enthusiasm shown by children on all of the 16 play centers this year, and say all indications point to the best playground season in the department's history.

Victims Of Burns Show Improvement

Attaches at Memorial Hospital reported last night that all but one of the men burned in the flash fire Tuesday morning at the site of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at North Branch show slight improvement.

Kenneth Valentine, 46, of 818 Maplewood Lane, failed to show any improvement since Thursday when attaches reported his condition as "fair."

Cement Firm, Union Agree On Contract

An agreement was signed this week between the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company and Local 453, Teamsters Union, according to C. E. Stutzman, business agent for the local.

The union shop agreement will cover about 65 workers of the company and provides for wage increases ranging from 10 to 20 cents an hour. New rates range between $1.52 and $1.92 an hour.

Effective as of April 12, the agreement runs until April 31, 1957. It provides six paid holidays, one week's vacation after one year and two weeks after three years of service, and for payment of $9.75 a month to place workers in the Cumberland Area Teamsters Health and Welfare plan.

Stutzman said the company will retain its present profit sharing plan.

Under the agreement, the company will guarantee an eight-hour work day, except for weather and breakdowns, and time and a half time will be paid after eight hours a day or 40 a week or on Sundays.

The pact was negotiated for the company by George A. Diehl, office manager; George K. Steiner, president, and W. Earle Cobey, attorney, and for the union by Charles E. Bramble, Joseph E. Garlitz and Stutzman.

Stutzman said the union is currently negotiating with the Super Concrete Company.

Court House Roof Slate Works Loose

Sections of slate have worked loose on the roof of the tower at the Allegany County Court House causing a hazard to people walking along Washington Street.

The immediate area was roped off yesterday afternoon.

The slate can be seen from the ground and is protruding from the gutter of the roof. A number of other sections were loosened, possibly by the driving rains in the past few days.

Residents are warned to be careful walking in the immediate vicinity until repair work has been completed.

Sign Short Circuits

Central Fire Company was called to Rand's Store, 86 Baltimore Street, yesterday afternoon after a neon sign short-circuited.

The same company was called to the store Monday night after a similar mishap.

Firemen were told the sign is to be rewired, and was turned on by mistake.

State VFW Wages Battle For Veterans

Delegates Launch Campaign To Halt 'Raids' On Benefits

It became evident yesterday that a militant band of leaders and delegates steers the course of the 36th annual Maryland encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and charts the course for the next fiscal year.

At the opening session in Central YMCA, following the customary welcome from Mayor Roy W. Eves, introduction of guests and usual convention routine, the convention settled down to serious business.

The women's auxiliary, which met jointly for the opening ceremony, then departed for Fort Cumberland Hotel ballroom where they spent several hours on routine, reports and business of their 89 units. At 3 p. m. they were joined by the men for the annual, colorful and impressive memorial service.

But at the encampment session, early resistance to recommended changes in benefits to war veterans appeared to be the keynote.

Opposition to proposals of a commission headed by Gen. Omar N. Bradley came on two fronts.

Letter Campaign

Wyman Chadwick, national service officer, asked each individual delegate and member to write letters to President Eisenhower and all Maryland Congressmen against any changes in veterans' benefits.

The resolution committee will bring to the floor this morning a strongly worded resolution calling the Bradley Commission report "just another ill-conceived assault upon veterans' benefit programs and the payment of pensions and other benefits to veterans and their widows."

The targets of the VFW's fire are recommendations made after a study of the Veterans Administration by the Bradley Commission. The proposals of the commission would:

1. Eliminate payments for disability or disease presumed to have been contracted during military service.
2. Eliminate statutory awards for loss of limbs or sight.
3. Transfer non-service pensions to Social Security.
4. Eliminate payments for disability less than 30 per cent.
5. Redefine the widow's pension status that would eliminate benefits.

Study Group Named

In addition to resolutions already before the resolutions committee, State Commander Edward Tatman of Salisbury named a special committee on this commission report. The committee is headed by William Earl Griffin, a past state commander.

The encampment resolutions committee comprised of Albert W. Styles and nine other delegates including Past Commander Frank H. Webb of Baltimore and formerly of Cumberland, held hearings yesterday afternoon on some 35 resolutions which will come before the delegates this morning.

One of the special orders of business yesterday was to clear the way for plenty of time on these resolutions. When Chairman Styles takes the floor at about 10:30 o'clock this morning to report on the resolutions, the delegates decided that there should be no interruptions or other order of business until this task is finished, no matter how long it takes.

Thus far, the committee appears to have approved most of the resolutions. However, three will get an unfavorable report. They are:

No. 4 resolution which covers the cancellation of all by-laws of the department, with the substitution of national constitution and by-laws, manual of procedure and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

2 Local Banks Will Vote On Merger Plan

The pending merger of the Commercial Savings Bank with the Liberty Trust Company was announced yesterday.

Stockholders of both banks have been mailed notices of special stockholders' meetings of each institution to be held Monday, July 16, when they will vote upon resolutions passed by their respective boards of directors approving and advising a merger.

If the resolutions are approved by a vote of two thirds of the outstanding voting stock of each bank, the merger will become effective when filed for record with the bank commissioner of Maryland, who has already approved the merger agreement.

Under the plan, the merged institution will be operated under the charter and the name of The Liberty Trust Company.

The banking room of the Commercial Bank on North Liberty Street will be operated temporarily before being moved permanently to the Liberty Trust building, as one of the Liberty Trust's branches. Other branches are located in LaVale and Lonaconing. The merger, when effective, will increase the capital of the Liberty Trust Company from $600,000 to $700,000; the surplus from $1,000,000 to $1,100,000; and the undivided profits from approximately $215,000 to over $260,000. With reserves of $190,000 the total capital account of the merged institutions will be more than $2,500,000. Total assets will increase from approximately $23,000,000 to over $26,000,000.

The exchange of stock will be based on the book value of the stock of the two institutions prior to the merger, with stockholders receiving stock in the merged bank on the same book value as held in their respective institutions.

The Commercial Savings Bank was incorporated in 1906 and started business in 1907. John W. Young, former clerk of Allegany (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

State Seeks $1,923 In Civil Suit

A Zihlman resident is being sued by the State of Maryland for alleged overpayments of workmen's compensation amounting to $1,923.45.

The damage suit, filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court, was brought against Raymond Geary by Philip T. McCusker, special attorney, and Thomas B. Finan, local attorney, representing the state, to the use of the State Accident Fund.

According to the declaration, the Medical Board of the State Industrial Accident Commission found that Geary was entitled to $1,000 in accordance with the Workmen's Compensation Law.

The decision was reversed by the Commission and an order was issued allowing Geary an award equivalent to $12,500 for disability of silicosis.

The decision was appealed by the State Accident Fund and the employer to the local Circuit Court, which upheld the Commission. The Court of Appeals reversed the decision of the lower court and affirmed findings of the Medical Board of the commission.

During the interim, the State Accident Fund paid to Geary a total of $2,730 from September 20, 1954 to March 19, 1956, an overpayment of $1,730.

The defendant, the declaration adds, also owes the plaintiff expenses incurred by the plaintiff in the Court of Appeals, which amounted to $193.45.

Counsel for the plaintiff is seeking summary judgement on the grounds.

City Officer Gets Hearing On Suspension

Board Asks Transcript, Will Give Decision

A hearing was held yesterday afternoon by the Civil Service Commission on an appeal filed by Police Officer Charles E. Snider on a five-day suspension from duty.

The hearing, on charges that Officer Snider (1) failed to report for duty fully equipped (did not have a mace) and (2) failed to go home after ordered to do so by the desk sergeant, was held in the office of Mayor Roy W. Eves before the full board.

Ralph R. Webster, chairman, said the commission will meet and decide "to support or not to support" the charges after testimony is transcribed.

Testimony was presented by Officer Snider, who was represented by Peter J. Carpentieri; by Sgt. James W. Brown, who was in charge of the 1 to 9 a. m. platoon on June 7; Sgt. George E. Pfeiffer, who was in charge of the desk at the time of the incident which resulted in the charges, and Officer Richard W. Lashley.
